County Cemeteries Cater to Veterans

By FRANK LaPIERRE

In the wake of reports of veterans and their families being bilked by a few cemeteries in the county using "bait-and-switch" methods of doing business, some local cemeteries are going out of their way to attract veterans' business.

"Bait-and-switch" is an illegal practice whereby a cemetery, or other business, "sells" a gravesite under a pre-arranged plan. However, when the veteran dies his family finds his pre-arranged plot has been shifted to another section of the cemetery.

This recently was brought to light in a news article concerning a Chicago veteran's family.

The family was told that for more money a better burial site, in a choice section of the cemetery, could be arranged, according to the report.

Here on the Peninsula, Ted Kimche, director of Skylawn Memorial cemetery west of San Mateo said his company hopes to eventually set aside some 50 acres, of Skylawn's 500 acres, for use by honorably discharged veterans and their families.

Kimche said there is no charge for pre-arranged burial sites at Skylawn.

There are no "gimmicks" either, Kimche said.

Skylawn is situated on several rolling hills overlooking the Pacific Ocean. There is a memorial in honor of vet$ierans atop one of the higher hills, with two eternal flames flanking the memorial and its flagpole.

According to Kimche, a veteran merely selects his pre-need burial plot, that is, reserves the section of his choice before he dies, and deposits $40 in an endowment trust fund.

This endowment trust is established under California law and, like other cemeteries in the state, the interest accrued is used to maintain the gravesite.

The principle — $40 — cannot be used.

At the time of death, the family will be required to pay a recording fee of $24 and for the opening and closing of the grave plus a vault — $416.

Wartime veterans' survivors receive up to $150 toward burial fees and up to $250 toward funeral expenses, Veterans Administration officials said.

Kimche, director of Skylawn for the past 1½ years said "We intend to do this programn right, or not at all."

If the cemetery gives away burial sites, how can the business financially survive?

Kimche said in many cases the veteran's family also would want to be buried at Skylawn.

In this way the cemetery would attract new business

Bay Area veterans have voiced concern over where they would be buried since the closing of the Golden Gate National Cemetery in San Bruno.

The military cemetery reached capacity ity several years ago and has restricted burials to those veterans who already have family interred there, or a family member whose veteran spouse is buried there.

There have been some 100,000 burials at Golden Gate National Cemetery.

Two other national cemeteries, of the nation's 103 cemeteries in the National Cemetery System, still are open for veterans use on the West Coast.

One is in Los Angeles and the other is in Portland, Ore.

Cost of travelling to these gravesites, (lodging, meals among other expenses) could run as high as $600.

It is also inconvenient, cemetery officials point out.

Olivet Memorial Park in Colma has a military terrace set aside for veterans and their families.

A minimum charge is levied here, according to Mike Taylor.

The cemetery maintains an active year-around program of honors at the terrace, with special events on Memorial Day, when an hour long program is held.

A minimum charge is asked of veterans — about $659 — for a regular burial. Taps is played and the flag is flown at half-staff.

Like Skylawn, Olivet has a special low rate for cremation and placement in a niche.

Quotations given for this service by several cemeteries was $150 — the sum alloted by the Veterans Administration.

Since its opening in 1965, the Military Terrace at Olivet has had some 1300 burials.

Cypress Lawn Cemetery in Colma has an acre set aside for veterans, according to Lloyd Lagomarsino.

At most cemeteries having facilities for veterans, bronze or granite "military style" markers are used. These are installed flush to the ground.

Government markers are another cost-free item the

GARAGE SITE

This is site of proposed multi-level $3.3 million plus BART garage west of station (background). During phases of construction, about half of cars that now use this lot — 400 vehicles — would be pushed onto surrounding Daly City streets, adding to current congestion, officials fear.

BART's 'Take It or Leave It' Negotiation with DC

Bay Area Rapid Transit riders who park at the Daly City Station may be hit with a parking fee in the future.

What the fee will be has not been determined.

A resolution quickly adopted by BART directors, following a "take it or leave it" negotiating meeting with Daly City some three weeks ago, simply says it's "a reasonable charge."

This charge is based on cost of maintenance, policing and lighting of a new multi-level garage west of the station, partially funded by Daly City ($300,000) and the federal government ($3 million).

BART was expected to apply for government funds for a traffic improvement project in and around the station costing about $1 million, it was understood.

But Daly City councilmen weren't quick to swallow the BART board's list of cost figures submitted by transit district staff to justify a 50-cent charge per vehicle (which would amount to a gross income of some $900 daily for use of the garage).

BART had explained lighting at the garage would cost $15,000 per year, maintenance of the 1,600 space facility $83,000 and police services $193,500.

The latter figure implies, councilmen surmised, an additional 16 BART policemen just for the Daly City facility.

City Manager David Rowe and Councilman Victor Kyriakis agreed they felt negotiations with BART had gone as far as they could go.

At a meeting between Kyriakis, Rowe, Councilman Bill Schumacher, BART Vice President Elmer Cooper and 9th District Representative John H. Kirkwood at the Daly City Civic Center last month, the attitude of the BART team was "we couldn't care less if the garage is built or not," Kyriakis said Monday.

And rather than see the entire garage "go out the window" Mayor McRobert Stewart and Kyriakis moved to approve an amended BART-Daly City agreement on the matter.

However, Schumacher and Councilman Tony Giammona felt differently.

They wanted more time to study the proposal and asked Rowe to find out what the parking charge would be, and how BART arrived at the figure.

The matter was continued to Feb. 24 after much haggling among the councilmen.

Stewart and Kyriakis wanted the matter to be acted upon immediately.

This motion failed when a majority of the four councilmen present did not agree.

A second motion that the matter be held until a later meeting was passed unanimously.

Several points were brought out at the joint meeting. Schumacher and Kyriakis explained:

- BART clearly was not sympathetic to the city's parking problem around the station.
- Daly City was not on equal bargaining ground with BART.
- BART doesn't care about patronage from Daly

DC Woman Bound, Gagged

Two masked men bound and gagged a Daly City housewife, while they burglarized her Irvington Street home early Sunday morning.

Mrs. Marjorie Alberige, 53, told police she awoke about 5:45 a.m. to make breakfast.

As she stepped into the kitchen she heard a noise, turned, and a man wearing a black ski-mask grabbed her.

The victim was tied to a dining room chair with twine and her mouth was taped.

After ransacking the home, the two burglars left.

Police said the pair apparently gained entry to the home through a second story window.

Customers Thwart Robbery

Two South San Francisco bar patrons, angered over the temerity of a stranger's attempt to walk off with their belongings, overpowered the man, but were wounded in the struggle.

Arrested Friday evening at the 57 Club at 1001 Airport Blvd. and charged with armed robbery and assault with a deadly weapon was Alvin Johns, 18, of 1741 Ellis St., San Francisco.

The two bar patrons, Stuart Hill, 40, of Foster City and Dennis McElhenie, 22, of Mountain View, were treated for superficial gunshot wounds and released from a nearby hospital.

According to police, Johns allegedly walked into the bar about 10:15 p.m. and went directly to the men's restroom, when he exited the bathroom, police said, he was holding a handgun. He ordered the customers to put their money on the bar.

While Johns was collecting the loot, estimated at $150, police reported, Hill and McElhenie and several other patrons attacked Johns and a fight broke out.

In the ensuing struggle, police said, John's gun discharged several times. Both Hill and McElhenie sustained flesh wounds.

San Bruno Mountain Resolution Draws Fire

A resolution before the San Francisco Board of Supervisors concerning San Bruno Mountrlain is being called "out of line" by a number of North County government, civic and business leaders today.

Daly City businessman Frank Pacelli, a former city councilman who has watched progress on development of the mountain over the past decade and a half, suggested the San Francisco supervisors "take a geography lesson and they may learn that the mountain is entirely within San Mateo County — it's our problem."

Last week, the San Francisco supervisors' State and National Affairs Committee, comprised of Al Nelder, Quenton Kopp and John Barbagelata, forwarded to the full board an amended resolution asking that every possible way be explored to raise funds to buy more open space on the mountain for use as a regional park.

There is already some 1,300 acres set aside for use as a park.

The resolution was introduced by Supervisor Dianne Feinstein. It will be taken up at a Feb. 24 board meeting.

One section of the resolution which was not acceptable to developers and their supporters attending the meeting would have plans submitted through the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG) for review.

Developers said this would tie up any project on San Bruno Mountain for at least two years.

Only two committee members were present at the hearing — Nelder and Barbagelata.

It was agreed that the section requiring the development plans to go before ABAG would be deleted.

The resolution was similar to that passed by San Mateo County Supervisors some weeks ago following a recommendation by the North San Mateo County Council of Cities meeting in Brisbane.

San Mateo County Supervisor Jean Fassler said she interpreted the San Francisco decision as support for San Mateo County in its efforts to seek more money to buy additional open space on the mountain.

Mrs. Fassler said San Mateo County planners were "working closely" with San Francisco planners on matters concerning the mountain.

"If I was in San Francisco I couldn't help but be concerned (about the mountain), "Mrs. Fassler said.

Traffic flows, housing, jobs and visual impact will hit San Francisco hard as a result of any development on the mountain.

Visitacion Associates, developers working on plans for a community of some 28,000 people on the Crocker-owned property, called the resolution "premature," noting results of the area's environmental impact report had not been considered in public hearings as yet.

Robert Follett, spokesman for Visitacion, disputed Feinstein's conclusions, and said, "Frankly we are appalled at Supervisor Feinstein's lack of confidence in San Mateo County government . . . We believe that her crystal ball has been obscured by clouds of hysteria."

The "visual impact" of any development on the mountain would most affect San Francisco, Feinstein ventured.

Pacelli countered that San Francisco didn't appear to be overly concerned with San Mateo County residents when they allowed construction of the mammoth Sutro Heights television tower.

"Nor, were they concerned about open space when they approved developments — such as the John Muir apartments around Lake Merced," Pacelli said.

Daly City Mayor McRobert Stewart said he did not

He May Not Have The Last Laugh

It's doubtful a Brisbane service station owner will have the last laugh in his current adventure with police of that city, but he is getting satisfaction.

Officer Steve Stanton issued three parking tickets, for wrong way parking on a city street, to service station owner Gene Packenbush over the months.

The tickets cost Packenbush $3 each.

When Officer Stanton picked up his own car, after it had been serviced by Packenbush this week, he found, in addition to charges for a rotar, sparkplugs, oil, and the usual costs of service, that an additional charge had been added:

"For parking the wrong way in a garage stall — $3."

3 Agencies Study Transit-$1 Million Cost

By FRANK LaPIERRE

There are three transportation agencies in existence in San Mateo County today that have thus far spent more than $1 million studying the county's transportation needs.

They are: San Francisco Airport Access Project; San Mateo County Transit Development Commission and, San Mateo County Local Bus Study Commission.

San San Francisco Airport Access Project, spent almost three years and some $557,000 figuring out how to extend the Bay Area Rapid Transit System from Daly City to San Francisco International Airport.

Members of the Board of Control of this project have not met since 1972, but are on call at the discretion of the chairman.

Members include San Mateo County Supervisor James Fitzgerald (co-chairman), San Francisco Chief Administrator Thomas Mellon (co-chairman and alternate to the late James Mailliard), Joseph Alioto (alternate William McDonald attended all meetings for Alioto), former Daly City mayor Frank Pacelli, and former BART general manager W. R. Stokes.

Stokes' alternate, Dave Hammon, is also no longer with BART.

This agency was formed under a three-way joint powers agreement between San Mateo County, San Francisco and BART.

Another agency that has been dormant since completing its studies about a year ago, is the San Mateo County Transit Development Commission — a seven member group.

The directors of this agency are Pacelli, San Francisco Public Utilities chief Jack Crowley; Santa Clara County representative and president of the Metropolitan Transportation Commission Jack Beckett; former San Mateo County supervisor Gerald Day; former Menlo Park councilman William Lawson; San Mateo County supervisor William Royer and Howard Looney.

Project director for this commission is County Engineer Sid Cantwell.

While the SFAAP took on the task of routing and station location from Daly City to SFO, the Transit Development Commission concerned itself with extending tracks from SFO to Menlo Park.

While the SFAAP adopted a route alignment south from Daly City, the alignment into the airport complex itself is still being given close scrutiny by BART, The Times learned.

Once the SMCTDC completed its study on a fixed rail system, it undertook a bus transit study along with possible upgrading of the Southern Pacific commuter system, it was understood.

The SMCTDC was a joint exercise of powers with the Metropolitan Transportation Commission.

Its design was to complete alignment of a fixed rail system down the Peninsula.

Cost of the study was some $270,000. A subsequent study conducted by the Local Bus Study Commission — made up of the same mem-

Drunken Driving Rules Weave Their Way to Legislation

By DUANE SANDUL

Political jockeying often looms in the background of legislation introduced in Sacramento. A bill which finds its way to the state print shop isn't always the sudden brainstorm of a politician.

One of four bills dealing with alcoholism introduced Thursday by State Sen. Arlen Gregorio, D-San Mateo, is an example.

The bill, SB-330, was introduced, it was learned, because Dist. Atty. Keith C. Sorenson of San Mateo County would not agree to a diversion program for repeat drunken drivers without a change in the law.

The same diversion program has been successful in Orange County for two years.

Presently, state law mandates that persons convicted of drunken driving a second time within seven years lose their driver's license for one year.

Gregorio's bill gives the discretion to the court as an alternative to mandatory suspension to place the person into a treatment program that is a year or longer in duration, and meets other criteria imposed by the state office on alcoholism.

An Analysis

The force behind the bill is Edward W. Pliska, a municipal court judge in San Mateo.

Here's the story:

Early last spring, Judge Pliska learned of a program in Orange County called "Lucky Deuce." Its name stems from this: Law provides that upon a second drunken driving conviction, one's license is suspended for one year.

Such a penalty could cost persons their jobs, or cause other extreme hardships. Under the Lucky Deuce program, one participates in reform of his habit, and retains his license.

Thus, the second conviction is not perilous, but a "lucky deuce;" an opportunity for help.

Judge Pliska treked to Orange County to discuss the program with its creator, Mark Josephs.

It allows defendants to bypass sentencing on a second conviction to retain their licenses if they qualify for "Lucky Deuce."

The offender promises to abstain from liquor, and attends two treatment programs a week for 90 days. If he passes that segment, another 12 months in the program is necessary, including public service work to help newcomers in the program.

The reward for the driver, besides an opportunity to shake his habit, is retention of his driver's license.

In many instances, persons have lost their jobs because of license suspensions, causing them to become more depressed and more involved with booze, Judge Pliska said.

He said the motto of the Lucky Deuce program is, "The best way to keep a dunken dirver off the road is to put a sober one in his place."

Judge Pliska noted the persons in the program paid the amount that they generally would be fined, from $250 to $350. Thus, no government funds were necessary for operation.

Those who passed the program had the charged dismissed, or reduced to reckless driving. Those who failed had their licenses suspended.

Judge Pliska returned to San Mateo County, and arranged for conferences with judges, lawyers, citizen groups, alcoholism organizations and others. All favored Lucky Deuce as a method to help the drunken driver, he said.

But Dist. Atty. Sorenson, whose cooperation was necessary to cause the diversion, saw legal flaws, according to Judge Pliska. The judge did not agree with Sorenson. Their disagreement was philosophical in nature and not necessarily over the merits of the program.

Sorenson was concerned, Judge Pliska recalled, that no legislation or law authorized diversion, thus bypassing the mandatory suspension of a driver's license.

Judge Pliska, on the other hand, believed the power was already within the discretion of judges.

In order for the program to start, the district attorney must agree.

Finally, Judge Pliska contacted Gregorio, seeking legislation.

"We tried to find a way of achieving the program without changing the law, but we couldn't," noted Gregorio Thursday. "I figured if Judge Pliska couldn't get Sorenson to go along, I couldn't either," he added.

So a bill was born.

MOURNERS FOR LYCETT

An overflow crowd of more than 1,200 mourners attended funeral services at Our Lady of Mercy Church in Daly City for the late Bernard J. Lycett, longtime city councilman and former mayor. There were six co-celebrants for the mass, led by Monsignor Power, all close friends of Mr. Lycett. Entombment was at Holy Cross Cemetery.

want to "give credence" to the supervisors' statements, pointing out San Mateo County, and particularly Daly City, was "extremely courteous to (San Francisco) when they were dumping sewage all around us during their (city employes) strike."

"The preservation of San Bruno mountain is important to us," Stewart said, adding, "If San Francisco's got the money I think it's great. Then they can have all the problems connected to the mountain."

"But I think if they have the money to buy the mountain it could be better spent in upgrading the San Francisco County jail in San Bruno and for easing the traffic mess at their airport — also in San Bruno," Stewart said.

Two other Daly City city officials, City Manager David Rowe and Councilman Tony Giammona would not comment on the matter.

It was, however, pointed out by Frank Spadarella, who appeared before the San Francisco committee as a spokesman for Daly City, that any development on the mountain would be built in the so-called "saddle area" and would not be visible from below.

bers as the SMCTDC — cost $230,000 more.

A final draft of the bus study has been dispatched to Washington, D.C. for review by the Urban Mass Transit Agency (UMTA), source of two-thirds of funding for both studies.

Project director for the bus study group is John Guihlamett of the County Engineer's office.

In all three studies, consultants were BART's prime engineers, Parsons, Tudor-Brinckerhoff and Bechtel, and Wilbur Smith Associates.

Officials express hope the study will be accepted and funds will be forthcoming from UMTA.

Currently, there is a nine-member County Transit District voted in by the people of San Mateo County.

Pacelli and Fitzgerald said they hoped information will be gleaned from previous studies on transit and assimilated into the newly formed district's studies.

Fitzgerald told The Times it was his intention to dissolve the remaining transit agencies "immediately."

It is also Fitzgerald's intentions to phase the existing transit groups into a sort of "advisory capacity" to assist the fledgling district, chaired by supervisor Edward Bacciocco.

Meanwhile, money has been building up in the transit district's "slush fund" for the past three years and now amounts to about $9.7 million.

Some of this money, it is still not certain how much, will be used for expenses of the District's Board of Directors.

It is hoped by officials throughout the county that positive steps will be undertaken soon to get a bus program rolling.

From the time a bus is ordered, it takes 15 to 18 months until it is delivered for use, Fitzgerald estimated.

Eventually, the San Mateo County bus network will have a fleet of 220 buses, Cantwell said.

There can be no extension of BART down the Peninsula, without a vote of the people, Fitzgerald and Cantwell said.

Pacifica Okays 380 Vote

The Pacifica City Council Monday night voted to place the issue of extending Freeway 380 from San Bruno to Pacifica on the November ballot, but not without objection.

After a 3-2 vote, the council was threatened with recall for its freeway action and on the issue of the proposed civic center, the subject of a procedural vote Monday night.

Marilyn Springer, an anti-freeway leader, asked Mayor Aubrey Lumley how the city intended to fund the civic center. When Lumley said he did not know yet, Mrs. Springer announced, "We give you notice of intention to file cause for recall."

Two leaders in the Sharp Park Improvement Council, Angie Saladino and John Curtis, added to the recall threat.

The request to place "380" on the ballot came from the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce, headed by a former mayor, Nick Gust.

Curtis, who also represented Sane Transportation on the Peninsula (STOP), called for route 380-supporter Councilwoman Grace McCarthy, to refrain from voting on or discussing "380," alleging conflict of interest because Mrs. McCarthy's home is near a route suggested for an improved Sharp Park Road as an alternate for 380.

Mrs. McCarthy denied any conflict of interest existed.

Mrs. Saladino charged that Gust and Mrs. McCarthy helped reject a petition by freeway opponents to place the freeway extension had been approved by all parties, so that no election was necessary.

Veterans Administration provides.

Skylawn's policy for families of veterans is that the flush style marker be the same design as the military marker, Kimche explained.

Woodlawn Memorial Park in Colma also has a veterans section that is "expanding all the time," according to M. C. O'Daniel.

Cost of a single burial in the veterans section is $518. This price includes opening, closing the grave, a concrete vault and setting of the marker.

If a double plot is selected, the cost is $661.20, O'Daniel said.

This price is compared to the non-vet section where a single grave cost is $680 and a double $800 it was explained.

Lesser charges are levied for cremation after which remains are either interred in a grave or placed in a a niche at Woodlawn.

Holy Cross Cemetery in Colma holds certain rows of graves for use by veterans, however, there is no segregated section especially for veterans, James Cornett said.

There is also no special rate for veterans at Holy Cross, it was learned.

Recorder-Progress Wins CNPA Typography Award

The Recorder-Progress, a twice-weekly newspaper published by the Amphlett Printing Co. in San Bruno, received a major award Friday in the California Newspaper Publisher Association's "Better Newspapers Contest."

The first place award for "Best Typography" among weeklies over 7,500 circulation was presented to the Recorder-Progress at the annual awards luncheon at the San Francisco Hilton Hotel.

Some 105 judges screened over 1,500 entries in the statewide contest in 20 categories. Only first and second place awards were given.

The "Best Typography" Category covered the "efficient use of type faces and intermix of type size in headlines and body copy; the effective use of art and illustrations and its relation to typography, the use or lack of use of borders, ornaments or other units, the general makeup and layout of the typography throughout the paper . . ."

Presswork was to be weighted no more than 10 per cent in the judging.

Judges' remarks concerning the Recorder-Progress typography:

"Good consistency in styles and weights of type. Effective use of borders for boxed features. Pleasing balance between text and art. Good breakup and placement for reader interests . . ."

Editor Will E. Thomas accepted the plaque on behalf of the editorial, composing and press room staffs.

Publisher J. Hart Clinton and San Bruno Publications' General Manager John H. Clinton Jr., along with Harold Schlotthauer, general manager of The Times, and Frank Hoffman, circulation manager of The Times, also were present.

The Recorder-Progress is published in conjunction with the San Bruno Herald and the Coastside Chronicle.

The North County Post also is an Amphlett publication, printed in San Mateo, but edited by the San Bruno staff.

El Camino Seniors in Bank Award Program

Bank of America's 1975 Achievement Awards program, now heading into its opening-round, will have four seniors from El Camino Senior High School competing for cash awards ranging up to $1,000, Principal Robert C. Keropian announced.

These top ranking students and their study fields are: Paul Miller, science and mathematics; Susan Opp, liberal arts; Pamela Curlee, fine arts; Kim Chrestionson, vocational arts.

The four winning seniors, who receive personally engraved plaques, will compete with winning seniors from neighboring high schools at a zone event in mid-March. Judging at this event will be conducted by a panel of educators, and business and community leaders and will be based on written compositions, group discussions, scholarship, and civic and school activities. Winners then advance to the regional finals scheduled for May. Second and third place zone winners in each field receive $100 and $75 respectively.

In the finals, approximately eight semi-final winners in each category will compete for the top prizes of $1,000, $750 and $500. All other finalists receive $250.

City because riders are occupying seats that should be used by San Franciscans.

• Because Daly City is the only BART station with free parking outside the transit district, it is a thorn in the district's side.

Schumacher said the resolution adopted by BART last week was not the tentative agreement reached between the negotiators earlier.

"I've done a lot of negotiating. When you reach a tentative agreement in negotiations you don't change (them) unless (you) motify the other (side)," Schumacher said.

Kyriakis and Stewart argued that the "reasonable charge" was not a hard and fast rule and it could be changed — downward, perhaps.

On the other hand, it could be raised. Giammona and Schumacher countered.

The council did agree the cost figures submitted by BART were inflated.

Human Foot Washed Ashore

A human foot was washed ashore just south of the Seabreeze Motel in Pacifica, police reported last week.

The foot was found by motel Manager A.M. Orri, who told police she hoped that it would be washed back out to sea. However, the foot in a black sock still was on the beach the next day and so she called police.

South San Francisco Unified District

Tax Foes Claim 'Argument' Rights Violated

By JACK BIK

A South San Francisco organization opposing Proposition C, the school tax increase measure, has charged that it was denied the right to have its "argument" accompany the sample ballot in each voter's home.

Only the argument in favor of the tax increase measure will be included.

The organization is the Teacher/Taxpayer Coalition Against Proposition C, the same group — which, under a slightly different name — waged a successful battle against Proposition M on the November ballot.

Both propositions called for a $95 per pupil addition to the revenue limit.

County Clerk Marvin Church explained that South San Francisco teacher Robert Gehl brought in the argument. He could not accept the argument, because Gehl, of San Mateo, is not a resident of the district.

Gehl later returned with an affidavit from members of the coalition, who do reside in the district. However, it failed to qualify as a bona fide organization, under the Election Code, since it did not have regularly elected officers, meet regularly, or have a written charter, according to Church and his legal adviser, Deputy Dist. Atty. Howard Riddle.

Church admitted that the Election Code makes it the duty of the clerk to seek both pro and con arguments to every proposition.

"Every effort was made," Church said. "it was just that none of those who filed arguments qualified."

Also seeking to have opposition arguments filed were Nancy Jewel Cross, a county critic active in women's liberation, and a group which Church said is from Sunnyvale.

Gehl said he went to the clerk's office a third time, with two residents of the District, Blanid Malloy and Ruth Fee, after being assured that residents' signatures would make the argument valid. This was five days after the deadline. Four days later, he said he was told there had been a misunderstanding, and it was too late for opposing argument, since the printer already had the other related material.

"We fear," says one member of the coalition, Mrs. E.B. Chatterton, "that due to a rather vague opinion as to a technicality, many voters will believe that there is no opposition to this measure."

The argument opposing Proposition C states, "Public schools have become notorious for low academic standards, numerous discipline problems, and high costs to the public. Whenever more tax money is deemed necessary to maintain existing levels of inefficiency and waste, comparisons are made with other local school districts which have managed to maintain their own inefficiency and waste on a slightly more opulent level."

Most children, the coalition position claims, "are very inexpensive to the taxpayer. These children require a few textbooks, contact with a regular classroom teacher and not much else. Being average or bright, obedient and well-mannered, they are not getting an equal share of the tax dollar; i.e., they receive little or no benefit from the army of counselors, administrators, psychologists, assistant-superintendents, curriculum experts, nurses, directors and coordinators who cater to children with problems.'"

The argument adds: "Less than half of the operating budget . . . is expended on textbooks and regular classroom teachers dealing with normal, non-special students. Yet there is so much 'overhead' in the system that the educational establishment would have the citizenry pay approximately $200 a day to keep each regular classroom open.

Thursday, James Lynch, a history and social science teacher at Southwood Junior High, will speak at Serra Vista School, during a meeting of the West Winston Manor Homeowners Association.

The coalition will hold a public meeting at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 20 at the Orange Avenue Library.

Trustees Support TN Principal on Sign Ban

Jefferson Union High School trustees at a meeting Feb. 4, supported Terra Nova High School Principal Tom Panagoulias against student charges that he violated their right of free speech.

The charges were made over the principal's ban of the student body's slogan for this semester's election.

Panagoulias ordered taken down election posters with the slogan, "If you don't bother to vote, you've got no call to bitch."

Student Body President Scott Riewerts told trustees that the student executive board believed the action unjust. The student board approved a resolution declaring that the banner's slogan was neither "libelous, slanderous . . . or obscene."

Trustees met past midnight over the issue in closed session. They finally decided that they could not decide whether public display of the word "bitch" was illegal.

Superintendent Ed Morgan said some persons undoubtedly find the word offensive.

JUHSD Backs Job Center

A proposal for a job training center for teen-agers and adults, to be located in the North County, received the backing of the Jefferson Union High School District Board of Trustees last week.

The center would serve residents of South San Francisco, Half Moon Bay, and possibly San Bruno, in addition to those in the JUHSD.

The proposal was presented by Thomas A. Redmond, director of career education for the JUHSD. He said the center would offer high school students "much needed" job training, without additional cost to taxpayers.

Presently, he said, San Mateo County is operating a Regional Occupational Center (ROP), under a 1965 state law. It is supported by a countywide tax, as well as state subventions. However, North County residents, he said, cannot always use the center, because classes are held only in Redwood City and in Burlingame.

Redmond proposes that the JUHSD be designated the northern component of the San Mateo County ROP, responsible for development, operations and administration of the North County ROP. The Jefferson District, he said, would receive state subventions based on average daily attendance.

Although Jefferson already offers vocational classes, they are supported by federal funds, which are not allocated according to actual need, it was explained. In Jefferson's case, this need is far greater than services available to students, Redmond indicated. Vocational classes are expensive to provide, he added.

Some 50 JUHSD residents already are journeying to the ROP center to attend classes in auto body repair, computer technology, environmental landscaping, plastics and small engine technology. Other courses include air transportation, bicycle basics, graphics, health careers, keypunch, recreation and Christmas sales.

Also at the meeting, Sausalito architect James Coke presented plans for the new Thornton High School, to be erected for a half-million dollars on Castle Street, Daly llars on Castle Stret, Daly City, site of the old Thornton elementary school. The school is being designed so a variety of activities may be offered to the continuation students.

Selecting Schools Chief One of Important Jobs

"Selecting a new school superintendent is one of the most important things you will do," Richard W. Montgomery told the Jefferson Union High School District Board, at a meeting last week.

Montgomery, who has been retained by the board as a consultant in its search for a new superintendent, announced that he will be present all day Feb. 18 and 19, in the school district office in Westlake, to talk to parents, school employes and other interested persons who wish to tell him of the personal and professional qualifications they want in a school superintendent.

Appointments with Montgomery may be made by calling Nancy Cook, 755-1162. He will be availble until 9 p.m., on Feb. 18.

Montgomery will meet with the board Feb. 24 to discuss the candidates, then on March 3 to present the final draft of a brochure, announcing the vacancy. Committee will screen candidates on April 13-20, and the board will interview the top five candidates May 5-9. A superintendent will be named by May 15.

The new superintendent will replace veteran superintendent Edward Morgan, who last month announced his retirement and marriage to an Australian teacher. He will serve until June.

He reports that he has no plans beyond then, except to return to Australia — not to reside there, but to bring his wife to the United States. He hopes to take part in local volunteer work.

The Track to a Good Marriage

By MICHELLE CARTER
Post Staff Writer

Couples applying for marriage licenses in the Borough of Queens in New York City are being invited to play a game that ultimately could plot the emotional course of their married relationships.

Student couples who are living together at a small Eastern college are playing the same game to see if marriage will work for them.

The game, which features two toy trains on an intertwining series of tracks complete with movable barriers and a computer to record the activity, is the Ravich Interpersonal Game/Test — or the Train Game. It was developed over the last 15 years by Dr. Robert A. Ravich, a clinical associate professor of psychiatry at Cornell University Medical School in New York City.

The game is the subject of Dr. Ravich's just published book, "Predictable Pairing" (Wyden, $8.95) which he coauthored with Barbara Wyden. He was in town last week to talk about the game and the book.

In his role as a marriage counselor, Dr. Ravich became aware that the husbands and wives he encountered in his practice seemed to be operating by an unwritten set of rules that only they understood. He believed that if he could discover the rules of the "game" they were playing with each other, he could pinpoint the changes they would have to make to work out their difficulties.

The Train Game proved to be the tool he needed to discover those familial rules. The original version of the Train Game "consisted of two HO-gauge engines and two sets of tracks sprawling across a ping-pong table." It has since been reduced in size, and a computer added to record the course the trains take, but the operation is basically unchanged.

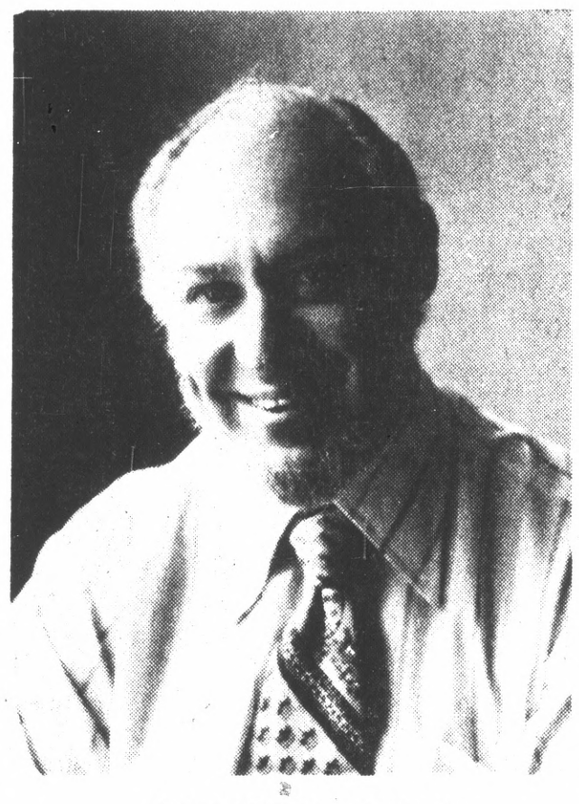
Each player is told that his or her objective is to get the train to the end of the track before that of the other player in the smallest amount of time. Each one is advised that he can block his partner by raising a barrier. The final instruction makes the point that it is possible for both partners to win.

In the next hour, the couples reveal the real rules that govern their personal relationship by the way they play the game. A wife who always has played the public role of the submissive partner turns out to be the one who throws up barriers to her husband and disregards his instructions for cooperating.

Another husband and wife talk the game over, figure out how they both can win and carry out their prestated plans in game after game.

In the first couple's case Dr. Ravich reads a surprising pattern from his computer printout. He suspected a dominant-submissive relationship between the two, but he had the roles reversed. After they played the game, he was able to see that although the wife played the long-suffering role, it was really she who ran the show in their family.

The second couple's printout merely confirmed Dr. Ravich's suspicions. There was a clear cooperative pattern in their relationship suffering from uninterrupted boredom.



DR. ROBERT A. RAVICH

Thoughts on Marriage

The dominant-submissive and the cooperative are two of eight distinctive patterns that Dr. Ravich has found in studying the results of thousands of couples who have taken the Train Game. He believes that every couple falls into one of the categories, and once he knows their category and therefore the real workings of their marital relationship, he can advise couples on how to adjust their relationships.

Of all eight game patterns, only one heads inevitably to divorce, according to Dr. Ravich, and that's a variation of the cooperative pattern.

"There's a tendency among these couples to 'over-avoid' conflict, and this creates problems that can't be resolved. Couples should be less afraid of having conflicts. There is always something worth fighting about, and fighting can be constructive. It teaches tolerance and respect."

Dr. Ravich also believes that children benefit from a family situation in which there is occasional conflict "and then a clearing of the air. The children can feel the release of tension in the family."

Dr. Ravich perceives the Train Game as a great diagnostic tool that can predict future areas of discord between couples before they marry. He believes that if all engaged couples played the game before they married, he could counsel them on the "danger zones" in their marriage — situations that can lead to serious marital problems.

He might even tell them that their pattern falls into the Divorce Route category and they should face the fact that their marriage probably will not last.

"I might advise such a couple coming to me today they would be as well off to live together without the benefit of license of ceremony — if they are not planning to have children. And the only reason I would advise this is simply to avoid the expense of legal fees and the farce of the divorce ritual when the breakup finally comes," he writes in the book.

"If such a pair insisted that they wanted to have children, all I could do in that case would be to review the history of the Divorce Route couples I have treated and ask them what provisions they would make for their still unborn children in case of divorce."

But most of the time Dr. Ravich's advice is not so drastic. Occasionally just suggesting larger living quarters can resolve conflict.

"I have seen couples who got along fine in a big house in the Midwest who couldn't live together in an apartment in New York. They needed distance between each other, and the size of the boxes was very important."

Sometimes just getting a couple to start talking again or convincing a husband or wife to shut up for a while will do the trick — solutions that make themselves known when the Train Game reveals the true state of a couple's relationship.

"Small changes in the rules can make big changes in the results."

Torah Dedication Set To Honor Michaelis

Sabbath Services will be conducted at Congregation B'nai Israel Feb. 21. The service will begin at 8:30 p.m. conducted by Rabbi Ira Book and Cantor Jacob Graudenz. Also planned for that evening is the Dedication of the Torah Cover honoring Julius Michaelis, past president of the congregation, the Men's Club and a member of all congregational activities. Rabbi Book's sermon will be "Purim: The Joke is on You". An Oneg Shabbat (Social Hour) will follow.

Sabbath Services will continue on Saturday, at 10 a.m. and will be conducted by the Bar and Bat Mitzvah classes; all Religious and Hebrew School students are invited to attend. The Biblical Chapter that will be read is Tezave Shabbat Zachor. Kiddush (Social Hour) will conclude the morning service.

Monday evening, Feb. 24th the festive and joyous holiday of Purim will be ushered in. Purim is a holiday that commemorates the downfall of Haman, who along with other tyrants throughout history, tried to arrange for the destruction of the Jewish People. The reading of the "Megillah", (The Book of Esther) will highlight the service that is of particular joy to the young children who wield a noisemaker, called a "Gregger" whenever the name of Haman is uttered. Rabbi Ira Book and Cantor Jacob Graudenz will officiate and President of the Congregation, George Bilick, will welcome the congregation. The Sisterhood will provide traditional Hamentashen (filled pastries) for the children. The first day of Purim will be observed by the Jewish Community on Tuesday, February 25th.

BUCHANAN-MORRIS

Mr. and Mrs. Barry Morris (Susan Buchanan) are making their first home in Redwood City following a honeymoon to an undisclosed destination. The couple was married at St. Veronica's Church. Susan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Buchanan of South San Francisco and Barry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morris of San Bruno.

Garden Club Sets Meet

The Pacifica Garden Club will meet Feb. 26 at 7:30 at the Oddstad clubhouse in Oddstad Park on Crespi Drive.

Anyone interested in growing their own vegetables is welcome.

Louanne Heath

I haven't heard of any Lincoln's Birthday parties but it doesn't seem proper not to mention our sixteenth President today! Let us all hope that by remembering him we will be encouraged to be more concerned with the welfare of our country and our countrymen and may each of us be motivated to make a little extra effort at being the best we can be.

"Of Mice and Men" has its final two local performances this Friday and Saturday in Oddstad Park Center in Pacifica. This Spindrift Players production features Bob Southworth, Bob Kip, Bernard Hyman and Lynn Linman. Others in the cast are Candi Rettig, Brion Devine, Darrell Greer, Tom Johnson and Ed Johnson.

Tickets will be sold at the door, prior to the 8:30 p.m. curtain. Adults will be admitted for $2, students $1.25 and children for 75 cents.

If you enjoy dancing to the very special music of Latin America you won't want to miss the Valentine's Dance being sponsored by the Holy Angels Latin Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Jose Jimenez are the chairmen of the dance which will be held Saturday, between 9 p.m. and 1 a.m. in the Holy Angels Catholic Church parish hall in Colma.

Dancing will be to the music of Los Timidos.

Tickets may be purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Jimenez in advance for $3 per person. Tickets purchased at the door will cost party goers $3.50 per person. For more information about tickets call the Jimenez home, 992-0433.

Lots of excitement among local Girl Scouts who are undertaking a new type of fund raising.

Scouts in all age brackets are invited to submit patch designs, in no more than three colors, and which are no more than three inches in diameter. The design may be free form.

Individual unit leaders will bring the designs to the Feb. 20 Adult Association meeting and turn them into the service team in charge of the contest. Judging of the designs will be done by an independent art expert, and the winning patch will go on display on Girl Scout Sunday, March 9. Pre-paid orders for the patch will be taken at that time.

The girl with the winning design will receive a free patch and breakfast for her and her parents on Scout Sunday.

The idea was the brain child of Mrs. Margaret Connolly, the local Association chairwoman. The funds raised by the sale of the patch will be used for camperships and the Wider Opportunities programs for the older girls. Mrs. Donna Barnes will oversee the contest and the patch sale.

Mrs. Michael Millane has made public the long list of ladies who will be helping with the annual Our Lady of Mercy Rummage sale slated for February 28 and March 1 in the Our Lady of Mercy Parish hall on Elmwood Drive in Westlake.

Co-chairing the event will be Mrs. John Pappas, Mrs. James Barnett and Mrs. William Shea will manage the equipment; Mrs. John Kachur will provide the refreshments; Mrs. James Dougherty is publicity chairwoman; Mrs. Harold Thompson is in charge of solicitations; Mrs. Edward Glischinski and John Willden head the finance committee and Mrs. Robert Curren is distributing posters.

The committee is still seeking rummage and contributions may be left in the parish hall on any school day during school hours. Mrs. Millane will arrange for the pick-up of heavy items, if you call her at 755-3411.

PAGS, the Peninsula Association for Gifted students, will offer eight minicourses for students grades two through nine on each Saturday in March, according to an announcement made last week.

Mrs. George Oleyar, publicity chairwoman, indicated that there will be four courses offered for students in grades two and 3, four courses for the fourth grade, three classes for fifth and sixth graders and a course entitled Beat the Computer for seventh, eighth and ninth graders. Members of the youngest groups may take a course in kite building, puppetry, games of logic and music. Fourth, fifth and sixth graders will be able to study life in the ponds and lakes, make prints or explore the world that exists under the microscope.

Tuition for PAGS members is $10 per student with a $1 per family registration fee. Non-members pay $12 per student with the same $1 per family registration fee. Materials cost extra. The two hour sessions will be held in the Nueva Day School, 6565 Skyline Blvd., Hillsborough.

Presbyterian Women Elect New Officers

Virginia Morse turned over the gavel to incoming president Marjie Tweedie at the January installation ceremonies for the United Presbyterian Women (UPW) at Broadmoor Presbyterian Church in Daly City.

Other officers installed for 1975 were: Louise Tinsley, vice president; Marie Edmison, secretary; Pat Rivers, treasurer; Jean Suenderman, coordinator for Mission Interpretation; Kay Mattson, coordinator for Studies; Perla Ibarrientos, coordinator for Involvement; Lucille Meighan, coordinator for Fellowship; Eunice Brabec, Fran Dethlefsen and Betty Hart, Circle leaders, and Joan Anderson, new member of the Nominating Committee. Other appointed officers were Bernice Hamilton, Sibine Fairbanks, Charlotte Spruiell, Penny Manis and Stella Loveless.

An active year is planned by the new UPW board. Besides the regular UPW meetings held at the church on the first Tuesday of each month and the Circle Meetings held in homes the third Tuesday of each month, there are many other opportunities for service, study and fellowship.

Twice each month the women assist at the Villa Convalescent Hospital with birthday parties and bingo games. A sewing group meets each month and provides hundreds of articles each year for hospitals and mission stations. A book group also meets monthly for discussion and reivews and the prayer group meets at the church each Thursday morning at 9:30.

A get-acquainted tea for all women will be held at the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, 377 87th St., Feb. 23 at 2 p.m. Any woman interested in Christian fellowship, service and study is invited to attend.

Daly City Woman to Entertain

Handicapables chapter of San Mateo County will hold the regular monthly get-together on Saturday at Crystal Springs Rehabilitation Center, 35 Tower Road, San Mateo.

The Reverend Joseph Logan, S. J., chaplain of the Handicapables of San Mateo, will offer Mass at 11 a.m. A luncheon provided by Catholic Social Service Auxiliary and musical entertainment will follow.

Jinx McLaughlin, an accomplished pianist and accordionist, will entertain. A resident of Daly City, she is a popular entertainer in San Francisco and on the Peninsula.

All handicapped and blind men and women over the age of 18 are invited to attend the monthly gathering. The group meets every third Saturday of the month. Transportation is provided.

NELL NORTON

Good morning, good cooks.

Friday is St. Valentine's Day and the following Monday we celebrate Washington's birthday. I have two recipes to share that would make suitable desserts for either or both occasions.

The famous story of little George cutting down the cherry tree, makes this cherry dessert just the thing to serve on his birthday.

CHERRY PINWHEEL DESSERT

2 cups biscuit mix
2 Tablespoons shortening
½ cup milk
one-third cup brown sugar
3 Tablespoons soft butter
1 can cherry pie filling
whipped cream

Add the two tablespoons shortening to the two cups biscuit mix and cut in finely. Stir in the one-half cup milk with a fork until dough is soft but not sticky. Knead gentle on lightly floured surface eight or ten times.

Combine the three tablespoons butter with one-third cup brown sugar. Roll dough out into a rectangle, 8x10-inches, and spread with brown sugar mixture. Roll as you would a jelly roll, starting with the shorter side to make a roll eight inches long. Cut in six slices and placed in greased muffin tins. (Use the large three-inch tins.) Bake 10 to 12 minutes in preheated 425-degree oven. Turn out and top with cherry pie filling and whipped cream. Serve immediately.

For St. Valentine's Day what could be nicer than baking heart shaped sugar cookies and frosting them with red icing

SUGAR COOKIES

2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
1 egg, unbeaten
1 Tablespoon milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift together the two cups flour, one teaspoon baking powder and half teaspoon salt. Cream the one-half cup butter and one cup sugar in a medium-sized mixing bowl. Beat in the one egg, one tablespoon milk and one teaspoon vanilla. Add the sifted dry ingredients gradually and blend well. Cover bowl and chill until firm.

Roll out the chilled dough, a small amount at a time, to about one-fourth inch thickness on lightly floured board, cut with heart shaped cookie cutter. Bake on lightly greased cookie sheet in 375-degree oven about nine minutes or until delicately brown. Remove from cookie sheets and cool on rack. Makes about 3 dozen cookies.

SUGAR FROSTING

2 Tablespoons cream or evaporated milk
1 to 1 and a third cups sifted confectioners sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
food coloring

Heat the two tablespoons cream and add to the one and one-third cups powdered sugar and blend well. Stir in the half teaspoon vanilla and red food coloring. Spread on baked cookies. For "crackle-top" cookie, spread this frosting on the hot, partially baked cookies about three or four minutes before they come from oven.

TEENAGE MODELS

GIRL SCOUTING

SWIMMING is scheduled for tomorrow evening for Cadette and Senior Girl Scouts in the Jefferson High School pool from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Lifeguards will be provided.

THINKING DAY reservations may still be made with Mrs. Caroline Futrell for the Feb. 22 international celebration scheduled at the Serramonte High School Gym, from 10 a.m. until noon.

PATCH designs should be kept to a simple format according to chairwoman Donna Barnes and 3 inch, 3 color maximum requirements. Designs from girls should be turned in to their leaders as soon as possible.

RESERVATIONS now are being accepted for Girl Scout Sunday's pancake breakfast to be held in the Serramonte High School cafeteria, March 9. Mrs. Kathy Galvin (584-0895), advisor of Senior Troop No. 24 is in charge.

Reservations for the ecumenical program to be presented at 1:30 p.m. March 9 in the Serramonte Little Theatre are being accepted by Mrs. Louise Courpet (992-0768). Participating in this Girl Scout Sunday service will be four local spiritual leaders.

VALENTINE'S DAY gifts were made for their mothers by the girls of Diane Holder's Cadette Troop No. 1586 in the form of bread dough baskets and napkin rings.

Mrs. Allegra Brewer provided the working space for Teresa Ciute, Jeanette Bess, Shirley Calvo and Dawne Holder who worked on the project.

REDEDICATION was on the agenda recently for the Junior Girl Scouts of Marilyn O'Toole's Vista Grande-OLPH group.

Participating were Cookie Pierce, Vicki Tschirgi, Debbie O'Toole, Franchesca Villegas, Christie Patackas, Cynthia Zamora and Leslie Sylva.

ACTIVE CITIZENSHIP in their community was the goal for Junior Girl Scouts of Troop No. 758 led by Dolores Riggs, as they toured Daly City City Hall and the Police Department and met with City Clerk Anna Ohlendorf.

Girls attending included Heidi Bohren, Janet Conser, Staci Cubic, Joy DiRicco, Karen Foley, Julien and Shaunna Hall, Kelly Lewis, Juanita Lucero and Janine Lungi.

Leslie Osgueda, Kristin Payton, Monica Rourke, Lani Schultz, Lori Shea and Gina Stroh were accompanied by Mrs. Betty Schultz, Mary Jane Shea, Kathy Foley and pixies Marty Schultz, Chris and Eric Cubic, Mark Cozzarin and James and Timothy Foley.

BROWNIES recently roller skating with their leader Sue Scaduto at the Grand Arena included Annamaria Remedios, Annette Hom, Diane Sabbatani, Heidi Erler, Kim Salkind, Maureen Agius and Pauline Nona.

Penney Law, Sherrie O'Balle, Sonya Cirano, Staci Kalman, Susan Plichcik and Susan Roth also attended the special troop outing.

Sea Cadet Openings Reported

Qualified young men between the ages of 14 and 17 who love the sea and naval life are advised by the Navy League that there are now some openings locally in the U.S. Naval Sea Cadets.

Membership could lead to ocean trips on actual naval and Coast Guard vessels during the summer months, a spokesman noted.

All Naval cadets wear the Navy uniform with a distinctive shoulder patch, but at no time is a cadet obligated to enter into a contract to serve in any of the armed services, a Navy League spokesman said.

"The U.S. Naval Sea Cadet Corps' objective is to build into the young men of America a sense of self-reliance, confidence, courage and confidence in their own ability to direct the actions of others, along with a patriotic understanding of their nation's services," according to George E. Gaddy, president of the San Mateo Council of the Navy League.

The league sponsors the Sea Cadet Corps jointly with the U.S. Navy, U.S. Marines, U.S. Coast Guard and Maritime Services.

Gaddy said the Walton Division of the cadets, which has its own vessel, "Walton II," has several openings.

As cadets, he says, young men will be instructed by highly qualified officers from the supporting services in seamanship and ship handling. They can advance in rate, and if a cadet continues his training in college, he can advance to the grade of midshipman and receive help in qualifying for U.S. Navy ROTC and in such way all tuition and books will be paid for by the Navy.

There are 50,000 Navy League members in the U.S., with 126 in San Mateo County.

Scout Outdoor Experience Is Scheduled Saturday

Today George Swain will meet with the Northern District Scout Committee, and Saturday Northern's Scout Outdoor Experience is scheduled.

Attending the recent District Committee meeting at the home of Alvin L. Schwarzbach recently were district volunteer and professional Scouters.

Morris Liston, George Swain, Bill Proctor, Bruce Hood, Fred Meyers, Roz Morino and Bill Crader were joined by professional Dave Avolio for a discussion of present plans for Sustaining Membership Enrollment.

Newest Northern District Commissioners include Bob Lambertson, Troop 292, and Bill Bound to be with Troop 259, according to District Commissioner Bill Proctor.

Additions to the SME fundraising campaign volunteer staff, as announced by District SME Chairman Alvin Schwarzbach, include Mike Cox serving as Cubbing family chairman and Bill Lawrence as South San Francisco community chairman.

Northern District area posts and one ship as recently listed in the "Trailblazer" annual report include ship 829, Theodore Hunter Jr., skipper, chartered by the Oyster Point Yacht Club in South San Francisco.

Other units include Post 72, Luther Titel, advisor, Order of the Elks 2091 and Millbrae Lions as sponsors; Post 181, Don Starkey, L.D.S. Church, South San Francisco; 183, Robert C. Stevens, Westborough Homeowners Association; 251, Thomas W. Park, L.D.S. Church, San Bruno; 259, Salvatore Scaduto, Garden Village PTA; 270 Joseph Busch, Millbrae-San Bruno Kiwanis Club; 278 George McQuade, American Legion Post 409, San Bruno; and 817, Robert E. Sola, Daly City Host Lions Club, Daly City.

Deadline Set For Music Competition

The deadline for application to be received in the office of the San Mateo County Chamber Music Society for its 1975 Young Chamber Music Performers Competition is Feb. 22.

The competition will be held on March 22 at the Peninsula Conservatory of Music. Instrumentalists under the age of 21 years, and vocalists up to, and including age 25, may apply in ensembles of from two to 10 players, not requiring a conductor. Amplified ensembles and instruments are not acceptable.

The competition is open only to residents of San Mateo and Santa Clara Counties. For details and applications write the San Mateo County Chamber Music Society

Back to Dark Ages?

San Francisco schools. "We're going back to the dark ages." Lucille Abrahamsen continued, "Are we going to cut out home teaching (for children unable to attend school), music, physical education? The alternatives we cannot accept."

This very month, however, a large portion of the physical education program has been eliminated at San Francisco schools. Libraries may be next to be cut. Reports indicate similar measures are being suggested in city after city.

Even as discussions continue, Daly City's Jefferson Elementary School District prepares to dismiss 25 teachers and possibly principals, vice principals, psychologists, consultants, coordinators, directors, head teachers, resource teachers, librarians, music teachers, deans and other specialists if more money is not secured.

No wonder Ms. Abrahamsen speaks of "(schools) going down the drain."

For Ms. Abrahamsen and many others the immediate solution is to get rid of the Property Tax Reform Law of 1972. The 1972 law ties the revenues a school may tap to enrollments. Legislation further defines and limits the amount of property taxes that may be collected by a school district.

From all over the United States come many other suggestions for coping with schools' financial crises, ranging from returning to the little red school house to formation of state school boards to govern all schools in an entire state. One group suggests shifting such items as libraries, student health services and recreation to municipal budgets. Another would provide a so-called basic education for all children at public expense and let parents pay for any specialized services that are needed.

WHATEVER THE SOLUTION, if there is one, school financing is becoming the biggest single problem facing the communities of California and the nation. Perhaps, indeed, it is the biggest problem facing the current session of the legislature. With such a problem before them the citizens of California and the nation are woefully uninformed. They are like spectators as officials engage in what Richard Armstrong calls a "sorting out of the taxing and spending functions performed by local, state and national government."

Armstrong's article entitled "A Better Way To Pay For Schools" was published in "Fortune," February 1973. Another popular article on the subject is "Let's Dump Those Property Taxes For Schools" that appears in the January 1972 issue of Better Homes and Gardens.

There are many books on school financing that would be valuable reading for a citizen who wants to understand the basics of the problem. One of the most often referred to is "Financing Public Schools In the United States" by Arvid J. Burke. Professors Roe L. Johns and Edgar L. Morphet have written a book entitled "Financing the Public Schools." An older book that is studied by hundreds of students in teachers' colleges is "School Business Administration" by Henry H. Linn. Another older book on the subject is "School Finance" by Rosenstengel and Eastmond. It discusses the state's obligation to schools, federal participation and local taxation.

In the important field of school finance it is imperative that readers realize that an informed public is the best assurance of a proper course of action.

STORYTELLING

Students of the Tiny Tot Program visited the Daly City Westlake Branch Library for specially arranged storytelling Wednesday. Storytelling classes will be held every Wednesday, at 10:15 a.m. for children between the ages of 3½ and 5. The sessions will last one hour, and stories by both current children's authors and classic children's authors will be told. Storytelling to youngsters is Kathrine Hunsicker, of the Daly City Library Reading Services Department.

Four From Skyline Win Scholarships

The Skyline College Scholarship Committee recently announced the names and respective fields of the four winners of this year's Bank of America's scholarships.

They are Suzanne Wright, a technical-vocational student and Lynda West a social science major, both of Millbrae; Lois Young, a business student from Pacifica and South San Francisco's Marian Cottrill, who is studying science-engineering.

They were selected in the first stage of the annual Northern California competition, following an evaluation of their grade point average, college and community activities and participation in a personal interview and discussion group.

As college winners they will be eligible for a minimum cash award of $150, once they compete with student colleges in the area in March.

The two area finalist will receive the minimum award of $250, and then be advanced to the all-Northern California competition. The first place winner in Northern California will receive $2000, second place $1000 and third $500.

PANEL ENCOUNTER

The special education staff of the Jefferson Union High School District presented a community forum dealing with the problems of exceptional children late last month at Serramonte High School. A selected panel, comprised of students, parents and district personnel, discussed special learning problems and achievements of the exceptional child. District officials reported there was "excellent" participation in the forum from all segments of the community.

SSF Library Closed After Heater Fails

South San Francisco's Grand Avenue Library was closed Feb. 3 because its heating system failed.

According to Mike Wilson, administrative assistant to the city manager, workmen are installing a modern heating and cooling system.

Every effort had been made to keep the library open, Wilson said, including the installation of electric heaters. However, the building's old electrical circuits were inadequate for the workload, and fuses had been burning out regularly, Wilson said.

City officials hope the new system will be operating Feb. 17.

Meanwhile, the library staff will work in the building, probably in sweaters and overcoats, taking the opportunity to put the book collection in order.

The Grand Avenue Library was opened in 1916. Nine years ago, the West Orange Avenue Library was opened and is the major facility for book borrowing in South San Francisco.

LWV Hosts Panel on Nuclear Power Use

The use of nuclear power plants will be the theme of the meeting of the League of Women Voters of North San Mateo County Feb. 18 at St. Martin's Church, 777 Southgate Ave., Daly City from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m.

A general discussion will be preceded by presentations of the pros and cons of the subject. Dwight Cocke, regional director of Northern California of People for Proof — Californians for Nuclear Safeguards, will speak against nuclear plants. His presentation will include a short film. Michael R. Peevey, executive director of the California Council for Environmental and Economic Balance, will support the concept of nuclear power. Mrs. Grace McCarthy, a member of the California Coastal Zone Conservation Commission, will be the moderator.

People for Proof is circulating an initiation petition which calls for a mortorium on nuclear plants until further safeguards have been developed and until the citizens can express their wishes on this issue at the polls.

Peevey has a master's degree in Economics from the University of California. He is State Director of the AFL-CIO and is a Sirra Club member.

Mrs. Marion Daughty of the Energy Study Group will chair the meeting.

The League invites the public to attend. Babysitting for a nominal fee is provided, and anyone needing this service or transportation should call the League or the Membership Chairwoman, Mrs. Mary Jo Juster of 66 Lake Forest Drive, Daly City.

Garden Club Plans Fuchsia Workshop

Daly City Garden Club members and the public are invited to attend part two of the Fuchsia workshop conducted by Forrest Eby at 1130 Hillside Blvd., South San Francisco., at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Eby will demonstrate how to prune a fuchsia proportionally to attain a uniform growth habit and the art of pinching back the fuchsia to have a fuller plant that will produce more flowers. Eby is a member of the Daly City Garden Club, Hilltop Garden Club and San Bruno Fuchsia Society.

Speaker for the Daly City Garden Club Feb. 4th was Mrs Sheila Davies, secretary of the Sequoia Audribon Chapter. Mrs. Davies spoke of the different birds that live in the Daly City area such as the Golden crowned, white crowned and house sparrow various types of thrushs rut thatchs, hummingbirds and mocking birds.

In honor to the late mayor and councilmen Bernard Lycett, a tree will be planted in the Sempervirens National Park located in Big Basin.

Daly City Civic Ballet Program

The Daly City Civic Ballet, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, recently presented its fourth annual Winter Ballet program, under the direction of Diane Roberts at the Serramonte High School Little Theatre.

Performing classical and modern ballet variations were Marie Abruzzo, Doreen Anzalone, Lisa Bianchini, Annamarie Brizuela, Kathy DeBarros, Gisella Deutsch, Michelle Frenkel, Lorene Gavle, Gwen Jones, Dannell Moniz, Rana Qirreh, Gayle Rigoni, Una Simmers, Kathy Torres, Vicki Tschirgi, Cynthia and Renee Abruzzo, Teresa Baumann, Nancy Brown, Melissa Candau, Michelle Correa, Mary DeBarros, Michelle DeRoux, Debbie Erickson, Lisa Espinoza, Diane Gagliardo, Kristine Gayle, Patricia Guisti, Peggy Guisti, Peggy Hartlein, Eilleen Kireopoulos, Diane Kounalakis, Brenda McDow, Maureen Monahan, Hadil Qirreeh, Lisa Riker, Paula Ruggiero, Susan Solomon, Francine Torres and Krista Wirth.

Portraying storybook dolls in a magic Toy Shop were Cynthia and Renne Abruzzo, Sherri Beyer, Nicole Frenkel, Brenda Miller, Alexandra Chrysanthis, Brenda Pineda, Krista Wirth, Amy Bohlen, Anegela Brizuela, Angela Brizuela, Sabrina Han, Cherie Schuezler and Amanda Pineda.

Katherine Bradshaw, recreation supervisor and honorary member of the Civic Ballet Board of Directors, presented a bouquet of flowers to Miss Roberts. Mrs. Mary Tschirgi, the company's Wardrobe Mistress also was presented with red roses for her work in making the costumes.

Teachers Ask Cost of Living Hike

Jefferson Union High School District teachers asked for a cost of living pay increase in a salary package presented at the Feb. 4 school board meeting.

The two-page list of proposals was presented under a procedure mandated by a new state law. The school board must now present its own proposal, prior to negotiations with the Certificated Employes Council.

Both sets of proposals must be presented publicly.

The CEC asked that the pay increase reflect the cost of living index based on the 1974-75 school year. The amount was not specified, presumably because the amount of the cost of living increase is not yet known.

Other teachers' proposals concerned liberalization of sabbatical leave policies and maternity leaves, and fringe benefits for part-time employes and retiring employes. The CEC wants medical coverage for teachers retiring before age 65. It also wants the district to hire another speech therapist.

In addition, the CEC is asking for a 175-day 1975-76 calendar. According to its proposal, school would open Sept. 8.

Men's Garden Club to Meet In San Mateo

The Men's Garden Club of San Mateo County will have its February meeting, Feb. 13, at the Black Angus Restaurant in San Mateo, Ninth and Claremont Ave. at 7 p.m. The "Hospitality Hour" begins at 6:30 p.m.

Frank Black, a member of the Club of long standing and a knowledgeable horticulturist, will present the February "Plant of the Month."

Tom Ellis, another member of long standing, will present: "Gardening — Some of Its Terminology."

The Club will also host the owner of Peters and Wilson, Jim Wilson, and his well-known head landscape artist: "Tak" Takemoto. They will be available to answer questions from the membership and guests of the Club.

Men interested in gardening are invited to attend and may make reservations by calling: Robert Goldberg, 754 Costa Rica Ave., (415) 347-6524.

Wok Cooking Classes

In conjunction with the celebration of Chinese New Year's (the year of the Hare, 4673) Mrs. Margaret Wong will be teaching a series of Chinese cooking classes at Bay Area Emporiums the week of Feb. 17.

Mrs. Wong will demonstrate the use and care of the wok, that ancient Chinese cooking utensil that is today's discovery for quick and economical Chinese cooking. She will show how to chop meats and vegetables in preparation for cooking and will prepare two dishes using the unique method called "stir-frying." Mrs. Wong will explain how to fit a Chinese dish into an everyday dinner, and how to cook and serve a complete Chinese dinner.

Reservations for classes can be made by calling The Emporium and asking for the kitchenware department. Admission is free, but space is limited.

Mrs. Wong has been sharing her expertise in Chinese cooking at the Chinatown branch of the YWCA for the past 15 years. She has conducted classes in Chinese home cooking, gourmet cooking and Chinese festival cooking.

Her students have included professional cooks and cooking instructors.

Ping Pong Tourney

The City of Millbrae Park and Recreation Department is sponsoring a ping pong tournament for youngsters between the ages of 13 and 18 years.

The tournament will consist of two divisions, juniors 13-15 years, and Seniors, 16-18.

This will be a monthly tournament climaxing with a "Tournament of Champions." Trophies will be awarded for first, second and third place winners.

Players Presenting 'Of Mice and Men'

The Pacifica Spindrift Players' production of John Steinbeck's drama, "Of Mice and Men," enters its final weekend Feb. 14-15, at Oddstad Park Center, 1000 block of Crespi Drive, Pacifica.

The drama is centered in the Salinas Valley, around two farmhands.

The attitudes and happenings that draw people together and cause hatreds, social conditions as they effect one's attitude toward life and the inner strivings of all men, are some of the things brought out in the play, according to Director Bill Crull.

Tom Johnson and Bob Kip are featured as George and Lennie. Candi Rettig is Curly's wife. Bob Southworth, Bernard Hyman, Brion Devine, Darrel Greer and Ed Johnson are The Boss, Slim, Whit, Candy and Curly.

Warren Gabrielli is the assistant director.

B'nai Israel Plans 'Purim Celebration'

The Men's Club of Congregation B'nai Israel will present "Purim Celebration," an evening of theatre, music, and food, Feb. 22, at 7 p.m. at the Templehouse, 1575 Annie St., Daly City.

The plays to be presented are "Bontche Schweig" and "High School" by Sholom Aleichem.

They are to be performed by the children and adults of the congregation and directed by Jerry Fox.

'Purim: The Joke Is on You,' B'nai Israel Topic

Sabbath Services will be conducted at Congregation B'nai Israel in Colma-Daly City Feb. 21.

The service will begin at 8:30 p.m., conducted by Rabbi Ira Book and Cantor Jacob Graudenz.

Also planned for that evening is the dedication of the Torah Cover honoring Julius Michaelis, past president of the congregation, the Men's Club and a vital member of all congregational activities.

Rabbi Book's sermon will be: "Purim: The Joke is on You". An Oneg Shabbat (Social Hour) will follow.

Sabbath Services will continue on Feb. 22, at 10 a.m. and will be conducted by the Bar and Bat Mitzvah classes; all religious and Hebrew school students are invited to attend.

The Biblical chapter that will be read is Tezave Shabbat Zachor.

The festive holiday of Purim will be ushered in Feb. 24.

Purim is a holiday that commemorates the downfall of Haman, who along with other tyrants throughout history, tried to arrange for the destruction of the Jewish People.

Youth Slates S.M. Concert

The California Youth Symphony, under conductor Aaron Sten, will present the second program of its current season Feb. 16, at 7 p.m. in the San Mateo High School Auditorium.

Open Meetings 'Not Just for Catching Thieves'

State Senate Democratic Leader George Moscone (D-San Francisco/San Mateo) last week suggested that "a free flow of information and open access isn't just for catching thieves in the act of thievery, but for better informing the American people about what is going on around them."

Senator Moscone, author of major legislation this year to open meetings at all levels of government and take the wraps off certain public records, made the statement in remarks prepared for the Freedom of Information Committee at the annual meeting of the California Newspaper Publishers Association. (San Francisco Hilton, Toyon Room, 3 p.m.)

"The First Amendment was in our Constitution long before the revelations of Watergate," said Senator Moscone. "It is there expressly for the purpose of making government and its officials open to the scrutiny of press and public. Its existence gives you, the press, the obligation to report fully what you can. The public has the need, in our system, to keep itself as fully informed as possible.

"But as great as the need is for openness in government, we still find public officials who want to transact the public's business in private. You are, I'm sure, familiar with the existing state and local statutes on open meetings and open records. You are, I'm also sure, familiar with the loopholes in many of these laws and the cases that are cited that are in direct violation of, if not the spirit, the law itself," continued Senator Moscone.

"WE FIND City Council and other local governments meeting privately to discuss the very pertinent public business of which people are to be named to commissions.

"We find the legislature still with the ability to transact important changes in major legislation without giving notice to the press and public.

"In Senate Bills 1 and 2 we're suggesting that all the public's business be done in public. Some of our so-called nobler institutions in California are going to have strong objections to these two pieces of legislation. Some of them are going to scream that we are intruding on their rights. Actually they are intruding on our rights by deftly locking the doors and the file drawers at a key time.

"The contest to open the doors of government is going to be a tough one. I invite your reading of what is in SB 1 and SB 2 in order that we can — frankly — get your editorial support for a new reign of openness in government.

"I don't have to tell you that the people's trust of government and of public officials is low. And it isn't merely because of some unusual events that transpired in Washington, D.C. Those people out there have seen government flaunt its power. They have seen government go private when it ought to have gone public. And they just ought not to have to countenance those who hide things in government," said Senator Moscone.

A Camera Lens 'Safari'

A Trans-African safari, as seen through the camera lenses of two local biology instructors, will be presented by the Skyline College Community Services office, Feb. 25, at 7 p.m. in Building 2, Room 2306 on the campus.

The fee is $1 general admission, 75 cents for students, and 50 cents for Skyline student body card holder.

Narrators Jim and Bonnie Hawkins will describe their African slide safari which began in East Africa, took them through the Congo, to a Pygmy Village, across the vast Sahara Desert, and into the Algerian Mountains before reaching the Mediterranean Sea.

"This Armchair Travel Presentation promises to be one of the most colorful, interesting programs of this kind we have ever put together," Community Services Director David Marin declared.

This color slide show of Africa is one of four programs featuring Africa

We're a Camera-Hooked Nation, Report Shows

The United States is a "camera-hooked" nation and Americans are expected to continue their fascination with photography through the next decade.

For 1974, gross receipts of camera equipment sales to amateurs in the U.S. were expected to exceed $1.5 billion, 10 per cent more than 1973. Professional and amateurs together should spend $6.3 billion.

This outlook is expressed in Bank of America's current Small Business Reporter on "Camera Stores," which was issued last week.

Despite the rosy potential, the report continues, an independent camera retailer's ride will still be tough. Rising inflation and stiffening competition from new outlets for retail camera goods and photofinishing services could force many dealers out of business. Shrewd shutterbugs are shopping around for equipment, obtaining advice from informative retailers and then going elsewhere to make their actual purchases.

Drugstores have been the traditional competitor for photofinishing. Over 4,500 vie for a hefty one-third of the total market. More recently, grocery stores, variety stores, hobby shops, and even mail-order houses have been cutting into the small camera dealer's dependence on photofinishing for 28 to 36 per cent of annual gross profits.

Stronger competition for the sale of camera goods now looms, with 1,500 catalog houses or showrooms offering rock-bottom prices on equipment. In order to survive the onslaught, small dealers have sharply cropped their profit margins, the report says.

Still, some dealers view the competition as a call to action. One dealer says: "Competition makes for an active market and sharpened consumer interest. With the right tactics put into play, consumer interest can always be turned into profit."

Other factors must be considered by the potential shopowner. The report cautions that "the decision to open a retail camera shop is a commitment only a rare few can realistically make." In addition to an initial investment of $50,000 to $100,000, the aspiring dealer must also possess a strong business sense, a thorough technical understanding of photographic equipment and a high aptitude for attracting customers and selling merchandise.

Inventory investment for a new shop is a major expense. It runs anywhere form $30,000 to $50,000.

The successful selection of merchandise is a real art form, experts say. One seasoned shopowner advises: "Keep beginning inventory as thin, yet as representative as possible, and wait for the consumer's verdict about where to go from there."

The independent's biggest asset will continue to be the personalized services — the personal touch of dealer guidance, technical understanding and expertise. These little extras draw customers to a small shop rather than the large, more impersonal, discount houses, the report says. "Instruction and patience will sell more cameras than any discount," one retailer maintains.

Some operations offer darkroom facilities as a way of attracting new customers and keeping old customers returning.

An Ecology Course Set

The "Bay — Your Friend in Need," a Skyline College Community Services Program, will offer an ecological approach to the study of the San Francisco Bay. Particular emphasis will be placed on the study of the Bay adjacent to San Mateo County.

This four-week course begins Feb. 22 at 2 p.m.

Le Pacini

All-Americans

This past collegiate football season may have produced one of the most genuine All-American crops in years. By that we mean, generally speaking, what one might call "consensus" All Americans are generally overlooked in the pro draft. But no so this time. Eight of the first 11 picks (Steve Bartkowski, Randy White, Ken Huff, Mack Mitchell, Larry Burton, Mike Fanner, Jimmy Webb, Dennis Harrah, Kurt Schumacher) made at least one first string "legitimate" All American team (for example, Associated Press rather than Dakota Times Ladies' Section), while three more (Mike Williams, Neal Colzie, Dave Brown) were among the remaining 15 first round choices. Admittedly, only five of the above made all or nearly all of the All American teams: Bartkowski, White, Huff, Colzie and Brown.

It's significant, we think, that Oakland's fifth pick was David Humm of Nebraska, a left-handed quarterback. We don't think the Raiders took him for good luck, because Kenny Stabler is lefthanded, and the only pro southpaw quarterback of any real prominence, in fact, since Frankie Albert. We think it's because the Raiders now have a "lefthanded" offense and that Humm is their insurance should they lose Stabler, whether it be to another league, injury, old age or complacency. Providing Humm can throw the ball, the system could remain virtually identically in such an emergency situation.

Hope you're in a statistical frame of mind, because some interesting official finals have been published recently.

In collegiate football, we think one of the most impressive statistics was Anthony Davis' nation leading 42.5 yards per kickoff return. including three that went all the way. We take that back. Just as impressive was one hung up by another Trojan, defensive back Charles Phillips. With his seven interceptions, he led the country in yards gained on interception returns (302), and average yards gained per return, 43.0!

More locally, San Francisco State University quarterback Dave August, who ran and threw out of the Gators' veer offense (installed just for August's talents), finished 14th nationally in what is now called Division III football (roughly, second strata of "small" college competition). He compiled 1734 yards for an average of 157.6 a game, and that despite some early season injury problems.

August's favorite receiver, Dan Ferrigno (recently picked up as a free agent by Denver), finished ninth nationally, averaging five receptions a game, and 15.7 yards each time he caught the ball, seven times of which it was for a TD.

Gator punter Rick Faulk finished third in the country, averaging 41 yards a boot.

As a team, the Gators were fifth in passing, averaging 210.8 yards a game.

STILL ON STATS, only this time basketball. Using the Pacini method of figuring stats based on increments of 48 minutes in order to get a fuller picture of a player's effectiveness. Rick Barry, if you didn't already know it, is having one of the best seasons any player's ever had.

Read it: avg. points per game — 39.0; field goal average, 46.2; free throw average, 90.6; rebounds, 7.1; assists, 7.3; steals, 3.5; blocked shots, .5.

Admittedly, the system can produce some distortions (although hardly more than the distortions in simply figuring everything on number of games played, no matter what the time put in), but even at that, rookie guard Phil Smith is impressive. Coming on fast after a relatively slow start, his stats read out: avg. pts. per game, 21.2; FGA, 46.6; fta, 76.8; rebounds, 6.0; assists, 7.2; steals, 3.1; no blocked shots.

Reserve guard Charles Dudley also looks good: avg. pts. per game, 17.9; FGA, 50.4; fta, 72.3; rebounds, 10.1; assists 6.3; steals, 2.7; one blocked shot.

Also impressive, even considering the distortions due to lack of playing time and the amount of "garbage" time he puts in, is rookie forward Frank Kendrick; avg. pts. per game, 32.7; FGA, 44.6; fta, 77.8; rebounds, 14.5; assists, 2.3; steals, 2.7; blocked shots, 1.4.

One last interesting single stat. Jeff Mullins, slowly rounding into form after early season injury and illness, is averaging 25.2 points every 48 minutes.

BASEBALL STATS, we got baseball stats. And now we know for sure why the Giants lost so many close ones last year. They hit only 23 sacrifice flies — easily the worst such mark in the majors. They were ninth in the NL in sacrifice bunts. Ironically, the Giants were fourth in the NL in FEWEST men left on base. But we'll bet they left more men stranded at third with less than two outs than any team in baseball. Cincinnati, incidentally, led the NL in men left on base, which explains their problems.

On the other hand, the championship Dodgers led the NL in sacrifice flies, while the contending Yankees led the AL in the same stat.

Some other truisms, oddities, comparisons of interest: The AL had a better batting average than the NL, more homers, and more total bases, but the NL scored more runs, and what did the designated hitter prove? If we assume offense means runs scored, then the AL did not, in fact, generate more offense than the NL.

How did the NL achieve that surprising stat? Maybe because they had 200 more sacrifice bunts than the AL. A real quirk: both leagues hit exactly 552 sacrifice flies.

Another oddity: NL pitchers had 140 balks called on them, while their AL brethren were called for only 46 of them.

And San Diego and Detroit, each with the worst team ERA in its league, proved that weak pitching staffs make the most stupid mistakes, or that stupid mistakes make bad pitching staffs.

San Diego led the NL in most bases on balls, most batters hit with pitched balls and most wild pitches. Detroit led the AL in wild pitches, was second in walks, fifth in hit with pitched balls.

STILL INTERESTED in baseball records? Chuck Tanner, Richie Allen's former manager, was recently quoted as saying that if Allen played in Atlanta he would break every single season homerun record.

FINALLY, if you can stand more baseball statistics. This is the era of the stolen base, and the Cardinals led baseball last year with 172, although you can hardly call that team speed, since Lou Brock accounted for two-thirds of them. Surprisingly, though, even though Brock copped 78.7 per cent of the bases he attempted to steal, Cincinnati led the majors in best stealing percentage, with 74.9 per cent. And that wasn't because they didn't attempt many. They were third in the NL, just three behind the Dodgers, with 146. Actually, leave Brock out, and the rest of the Cards stole just 65.1 per cent of their attempts.

More on this fascinating subject another week.

SUDDEN THOUGHT: in not being able to sign Catfish Hunter, the National League lost not only a great pitcher, but the opportunity to bring one of baseball's great hitters back up to the plate.

QUOTING from a 75-year-old item in the Sporting News:

President Young of the National League says that any party or parties who attempt to tamper with his circuit's players will be taken to court under the terms of the reserve clause in each player's contract. This could prove interesting as many believe that the reserve clause is un-American and would never stand up in court."

League Showdown

Desperation Finish for Berth

By JERRY LITTRELL
Post Correspondent

A bonus "second season," prelude to the "third season" of playoffs, began Tuesday for three North Peninsula League basketball teams vying for the last Shaughnessy spot.

Terra Nova, by winning Friday night, and South San Francisco and Oceana, by losing, are now tied for fourth place — the final playoff spot — with three games left.

League-leading Westmoor was to have the toughest conference-ending slate, facing Serramonte for the round robin title Tuesday, and ending up against SSF and TN, both opponents desperate for wins.

Westmoor had to rally from a three-point deficit in the fourth quarter to dump Half Moon Bay 44-37 Friday night. Jefferson downed SSF 68-59, Terra Nova topped Oceana 49-43 and Serramonte rallied to beat El Camino 59-53.

Westmoor 44, HMB 37

Westmoor hit eight free throws in the last quarter but missed nine other attempts to keep it interesting. The Rams were not much better from the floor, hitting just 26 per cent (17x66).

If HMB's Rick Loveman had gotten some assistance for his game-high 19 points, the Cougars might have gotten the upset.

Ram center Maurice Pittman had seven points in the last quarter; after the Rams got the smallest of leads, they held the ball, forcing Half Moon Bay to foul.

Jefferson 68, SSF 59

After trailing most of the game, Jefferson rallied behind Jose Guaman's 11 last-quarter points to hand the Warriors their sixth straight loss.

SSF led by as many as seven in the second half, but then, down 56-55, allowed the Indians to score nine straight points to put the game away.

The Warriors' board domination (led by center John Heise, who played his best game of the year), slipped as the game wore on. When the rebounding diminished completely in the final quarter, so did the lead.

Jefferson played a man-to-man, normally the Warriors' meat, but only guard Paul Bachtold could penetrate quickly enough, and he scored 22.

Terra Nova 49, Oceana 43

Terra Nova, apparently out of any playoff hopes over two weeks ago, is suddenly in the running again.

The Tigers trailed 7-2 toward the end of the first quarter but outscored the Sharks 16-4 before halftime and used charity shots in the last 30 seconds to assure the victory.

A free throw by Todd McClure with 0:30 remaining put the Tigers up by two, and after a missed Oceana shot TN's Pete Gutrres was fouled and sank two free throws with 0:20 remaining. Center Dan Phelps' two free throws with 0:04 left made the final margin six.

Serramonte 59, EC 53

Offensive board strength by Jerome Williams and junior center Skip Campbell was the deciding factor as the Regents staved off upset-minded El Camino with a 23-point final quarter.

The Regents weren t exceptionally warm from the field, but were able to get up to five shots inside until the ball finally fell.

El Camino came within one twice in the fourth period only to have Campbell hit four buckets inside to push the lead up to six.

Trojans Extend Winning Streak

Can anyone stop Skyline College?

It's bound to happen someday, but it's doubtful the Trojans, enjoying a 15-game winning streak and an unblemished 8-0 record in the Coast Conference, will beat themselves.

They have too much poise for that.

Skyline proved that — again — Saturday night by overcoming a 10-point deficit to defense-minded Menlo College (5-3) to take a 61-53 victory over the league runnerup at the Trojan gym.

"We anticipated Menlo holding the ball," said Skyline coach Lyle Newcomer. "A lot of team have come unglued because of their tactics, but we felt we had to keep our composure and control and eventually make a run at them."

The Trojans' strategy was well conceived. Trailing 21-16 at halftime — the 16 points represented the lowest first-half output of the season for Skyline — the hosts fell behind by 10 points with about 10 minutes remaining.

Then came that "run" Newcomer was waiting for. Nick Pappageorge, Mason Larkin and Frank Denucci began to hit, and the Oaks frustratingly watched as their game plan — and their lead — dissolved and finally disappeared.

"We had a lot of good shots in the first half," commented Newcomer, "but out shooting was just off. Also, we weren't playing for the loose ball. We weren't hustling.

"But in the second half we came alive. We got the turnovers and started shooting better. The first 30 minutes we played their game," Newcomer explained, "but in the last 10 minutes they played our game."

Leading the Trojans was Pappageorge with 18 points, while Larkin, Wyatt Sweeney and Denucci contributed 10 apiece. Marty Gayle scored only four points, but had seven assists.

For Menlo, Rick Michelmore had 14 points.

Skyline is now 19-5 overall, and must win two of its final four games to clinch the league title. Menlo is in second place, with Cabrillo sporting a 4-3 record.

Although Hartnell, the Trojans' opponent 7:30 p.m. today at Skyline, has four losses in Coast action, Newcomer doesn't expect an easy time.

"In pre-season, we figured Hartnell and Menlo to be the top teams in the league. We won't be over-confident."

Skyline: Gale 2-0-4, Machenhausen 1-0-2, Kilpatrick 2-3-7, Larkin 5-0-10, Sweeney 4-2-10, Denucci 3-4-10, Pappageorge 9-0-18. Totals: 26-9-61.

Bulldog Line-up Scares Laney

Despite eligibility problems that would send other teams reeling, College of San Mateo's basketball team continues to give some of the Golden Gate Conference's tough teams good games.

The Bulldogs (now 4-7) fell to host Laney 73-66 Friday night, but not before the Eagles received a real scare by the makeshift Bulldog line-up.

Laney held a 12-point halftime lead and stretched it to 18 at the 13-minute mark of the last half. But the determined Dogs, behind guard Henry Hamilton and forward Joe Harris, roared back.

With Hamilton running the offense and Harris pumping in six quick buckets, CSM trailed by just two with three minutes left.

But CSM ran out of gas and Laney pulled away to its final seven-point margin.

Harris, playing little over half a game, was a terror. He was high scorer in the game with 20 and had 12 rebounds. Hollister Savidge netted 11 points and had 14 boards.

WORLD CHAMP

Ted St. Martin, the world's most accurate basketball shooter (Guiness Book of World Records) will demonstrate his skills Saturday, from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. at Stan's for Sports in Serramonte. St. Martin holds the record for consecutive free throws made — 927 in a row.

Washington's Birthday Soccer Tourney Slated

A gala Washington's Birthday soccer tournament has been scheduled at Balboa Stadium in San Francisco Feb. 17. More than 100 top players from all parts of Northern California, from the Fresno area to the Oregon line, will compete in four contests for spots on a West Coast all-star squad.

The all-star team will represent the California Soccer Association-North in competition with visiting squads from other parts of the United States, and in exhibition matches against the American Olympic and National teams.

American Olympic Games coach Julie Menendez has been invited to the all-day competition, to help select the all-star team.

In announcing the holiday tournament Matt Boxer of Millbrae, president of the CSA-N, and vice president of the U.S. Soccer Association, has appointed Rudy Studnik to handle the day's program. Tickets bought in advance are $1. The price will be $2 at the gate on tournament day. Tickets are available at the various league offices, ticket agencies and through the California Soccer Association-North, P.O. Box 12066, San Francisco 94112.

Eight different all-star squads chosen by various leagues and groups will compete in four matches. They are: Central Valley League, coached by Mike Zupan, manager of Sacramento Croatians; North Bay League, coached by Salvador Renteria, manager of Napa Rangers; Eastbay League, jointly coached by Jack O'Connor of Tri-Valley at Livermore and Lari Rissanen of El Cerrito; Peninsula League, Jack Neves of the Portuguese Athletic Club, San Jose; San Francisco League, Steve Negoesco, coach of San Francisco A.C. and USF; Latin-American League, Frances Guardado of South San Francisco; and Non-American squad, managed by Cliff Waterman, star of the Teutonia Club for 25 years.

Prize Winner

Chuck Slaton, manager of Westlake Sporting Goods in Daly City, presents reservations for a trip for two to Lake Tahoe to Mrs. Iris Freeman of John Muir Drive in San Francisco. Mrs. Freeman and her husband, Lewis, were the grand prize winners of the trip and $100 cash during the triple grand opening of Westlake Sporting Goods, Universal Furniture and The Little Professor Book Center, three new stores on the Mall at Westlake Shopping Center.

Toto's Basketball Skills Contest Starts This Week

The Daly City Recreation Department announces the presentation of its 5th Annual Toto's Basketball Skills Contest to be held through Feb. 15 on all city playgrounds and supervised school facilities.

Frank Spadarella, owner of a Daly City restaurant has provided special awards for all division winners of the City-Wide finals.

Individual playground skills contests consist of five events: dribbling for time; around the world; shooting for time; passing accuracy; free throw-shooting.

Contests will be held at local playgrounds this week from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Winners from each of the playgrounds will compete in a championship throw-off Feb. 15 at 1 p.m. at the Jefferson High School Gym, 6996 Mission St.

Contest is open to all boys and girls with the following divisions for each: fourth grade; fifth grade; sixth grade; seventh grade; and eighth grade. Participants in the fourth grade boys' division and the sixth grade and under girls' division will be allowed to shoot from two feet in front of the regular shooping distance.

Playgrounds participating are Robertson, Colma, George Washington, Panorama, Marchbanks, Daniel Webster, Westmoor Park, M. P. Brown, Vista Mar, F. D. Roosevelt, Skyline and Westlake Park.

Homeowners Exemption Forms Are in Mail

Some 8000 new property owners in San Mateo County will be receiving applications in the mail this week for claim of homeowner's exemption, Assistant Assessor Lloyd Reise announced.

For the first time, the assessor's forms will be both in English and Spanish to reach the County's 11 per cent Spanish-speaking population, Reise said.

The forms are being mailed to persons who acquired property in San Mateo County since last March 1 (1974). They are urged to return the farms promptly in order to meet the April 15 deadline.

There will be a second mailing at a later date to all other property owners who previously received exemptions, Reise said.

DC Recreation Plans Two Wrestling Classes

The Daly City Recreation Division will offer classes in wrestling, two sessions on Tuesdays at the War Memorial Community Center.

The first session will begin at 3:30 p.m. and end at 5 p.m. Class will be for children 9-14 years of age. The second session will run from 7 to 10 p.m. This class is for high school students and adults.

Instructor for the classes will be Greg Herman, who is a senior at San Francisco State University majoring in physical education. He has four years of college wrestling experience and is currently wrestling at S.F.S.U.

All those interested in obtaining good wrestling techniques and learning more about the sport are welcome to attend. The first class begins Feb. 25. Sign-up for either session will be at the Recreation Administration office located at 134 Hillside Blvd. Call 992-5356 for details

Mars Show Set at CSM

Latest astronomical data about the prospects of life on the planet Mars will be revealed in a new show, "Martian Chronicles," open and free to the public to be presented at 7:30 p.m. Thursdays at the College of San Mateo Planetarium, on campus at 1700 W. Hillsdale Blvd., San Mateo.

Knights Set Cage Tourney

Tom Curr, tournament director, announced that Marian Council No. 3773, Knights of Columbus, will conduct their fifteenth annual invitational basketball tournament Feb. 17 at the Westlake Park Gymnasium. The games will commence at noon.

Schools participating in this year's tournament are Holy Angels, Our Lady of Mercy, Our Lady of Perpetual Help, and Saint Thomas More.

At the conclusion of the tournament appropriate trophies will be awarded to each team depend on their final standings. In addition, individual trophies will be awarded to a 10-man all star team, which will be selected from the best players on each of the participating teams.

There will be an exhibition game between the all star team and the team from Marian Council.

The public is invited to attend the tournament free of charge.

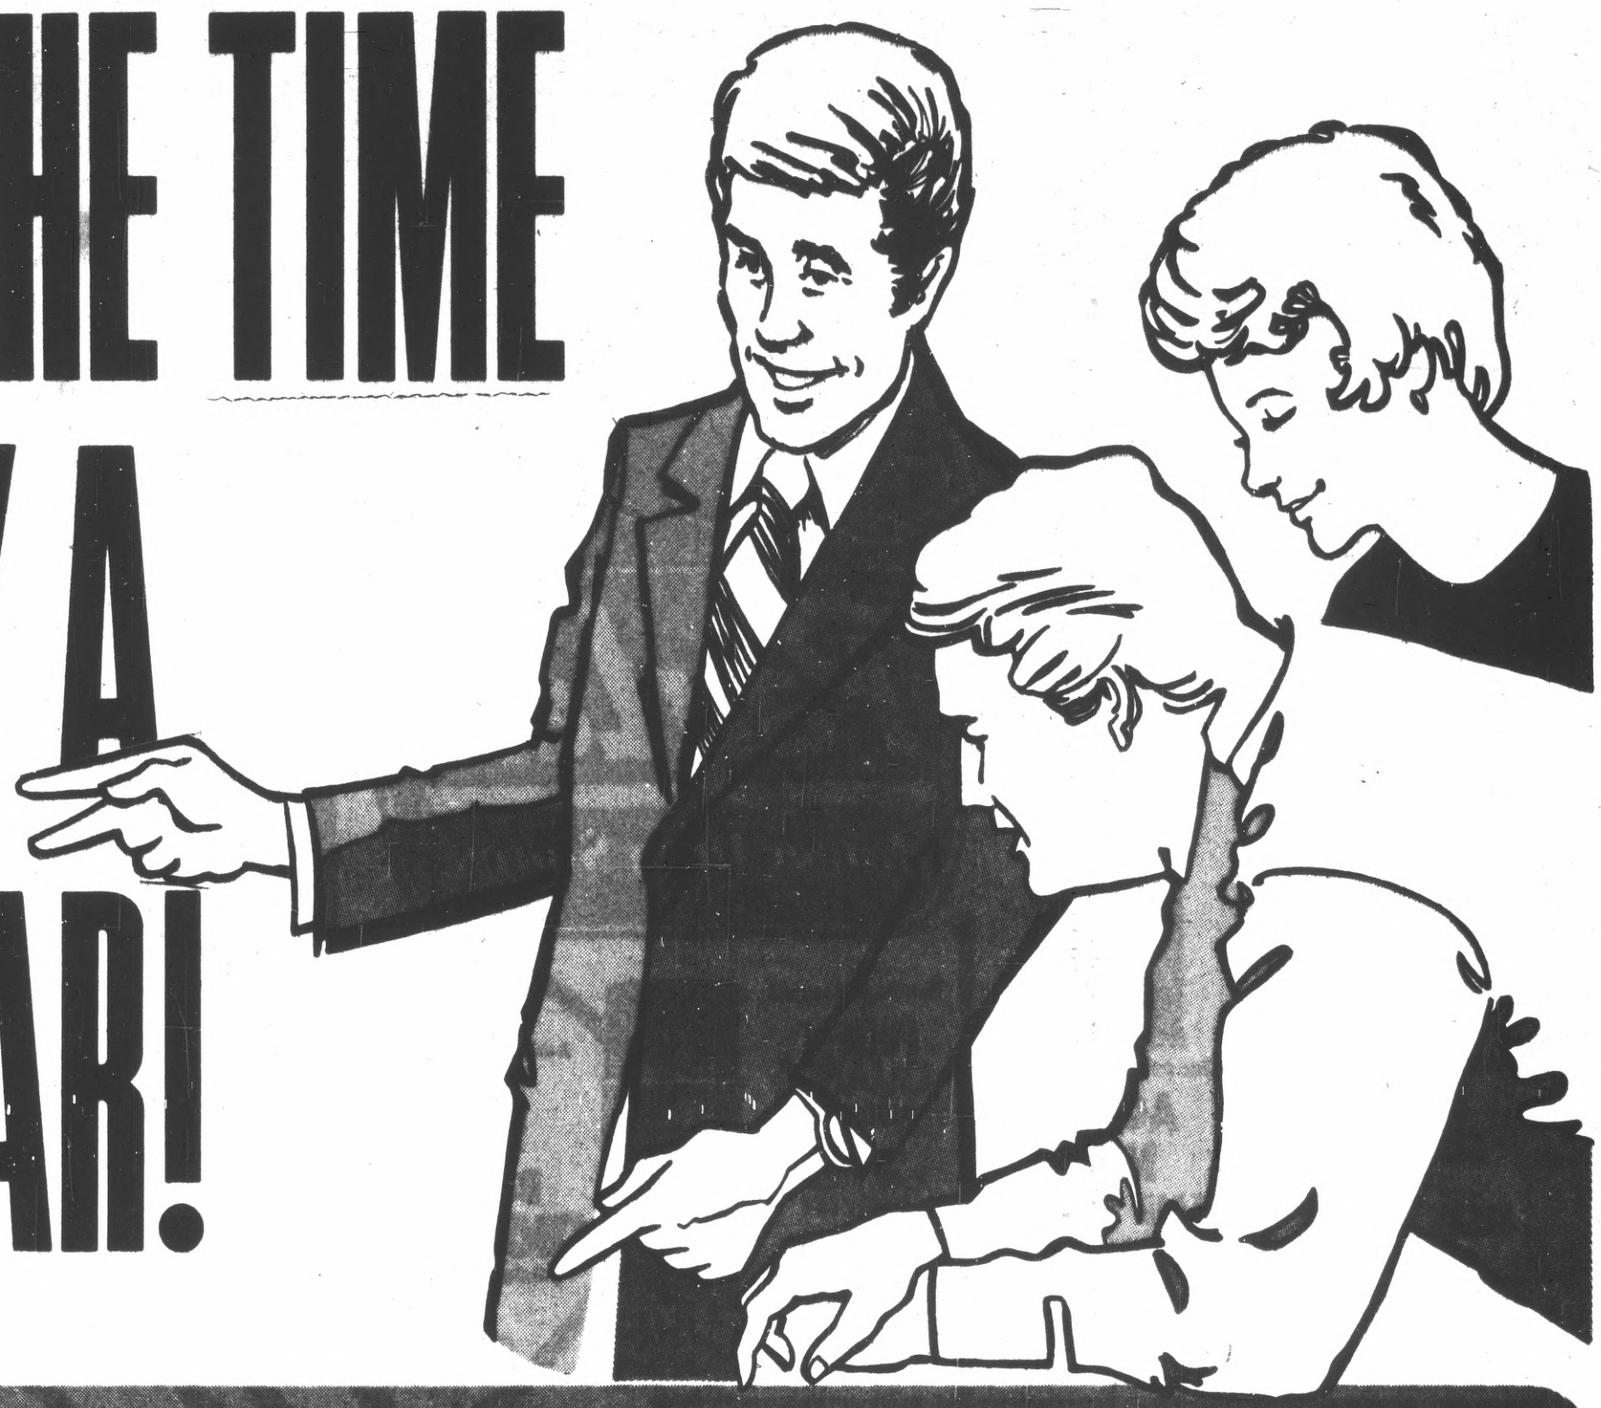
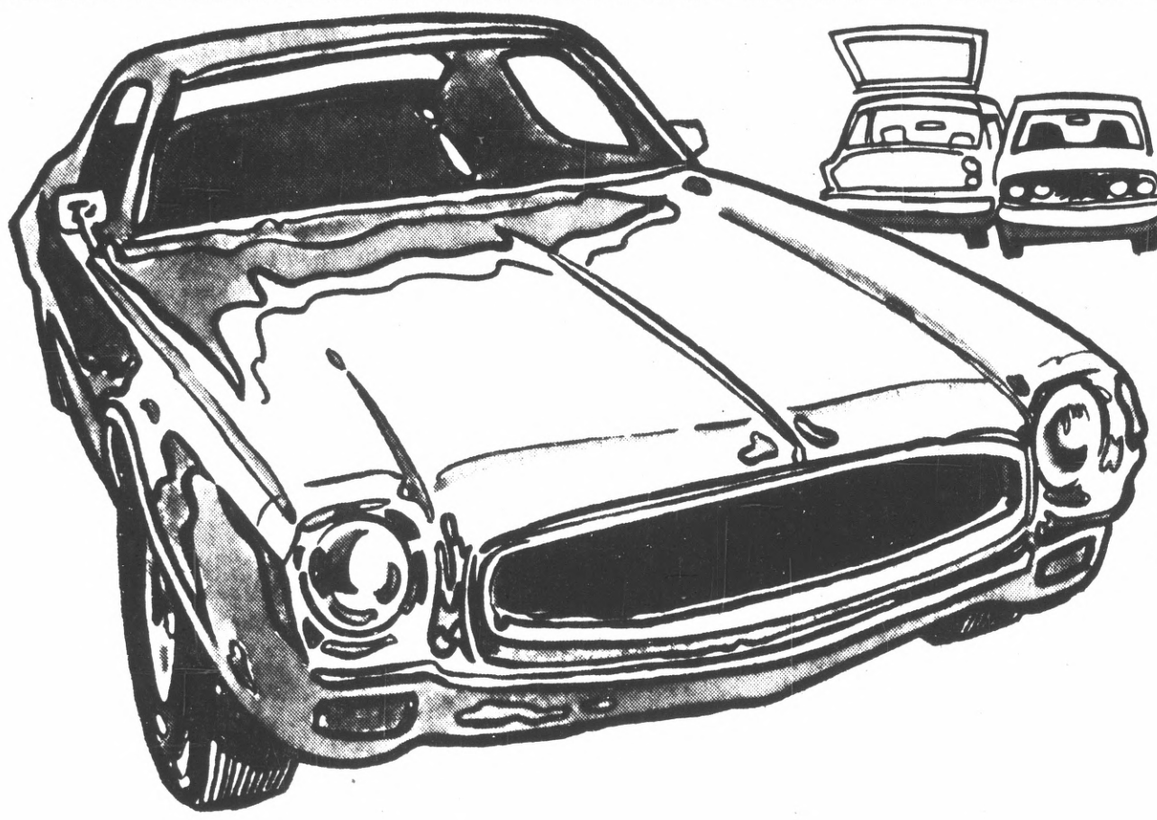
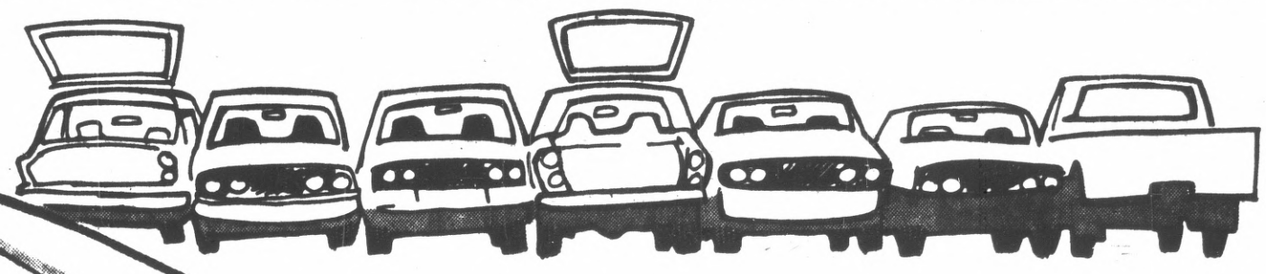
NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY A NEW CAR!







Don't be mislead by higher prices!!

DID YOU KNOW...

1. DID YOU KNOW... the value of your trade-in is at a 15-year high?
2. DID YOU KNOW... the 1975 models average up to 35% better gas mileage than older models?
3. DID YOU KNOW... maintenance costs are lower on 1975 models because of solid state ignition, engine improvements, and sealed bearings?
4. DID YOU KNOW... the 1975's are better values? Most are equipped with steel belted radial tires guaranteed for 40,000 miles of trouble free driving.
5. DID YOU KNOW... extended credit past 36 months is available through many dealers?
6. DID YOU KNOW... the 1975's have cleaner more efficient engines with exhaust cleaning by the new catalytic converter?
7. DID YOU KNOW... the costs of parts and labor to refurbish your present car, tires, tune-up, etc., make the 1975 models an even better buy?
8. DID YOU KNOW... your area new car dealers are ready to make some of the most attractive offers on 1975 models that you have seen in years?
9. DID YOU KNOW... your local new car dealers have the best selection of 1975 models, styles and options to choose from right now on their showroom floors?

FACT:

Back in the "good old days," 1954 for example, the average buyer spent 5.1 months of his income to pay for a standard size car.

Today the same comparable car takes only 4.4 months' pay and the buyer gets a lot more automobile in the bargain.

Inflation has increased the value of your present car. It's worth more in trade than you might think. Get a FREE appraisal from any of the value-conscious local dealers.

SM Supervisors Seek Consolidation of Courts

The San Mateo County Board of Supervisors will make another effort for legislative approval for the consolidation of the county's three Municipal Court districts.

That is one of the legislative proposals which will be sponsored by the board this year in Sacramento.

The county also will seek approval for two additional Superior Court positions, and public acquisition of the Pacifica beach area.

Board Chairman James V. Fitzgerald said that a "new mechanism" will be necessary to promote the court consolidation proposal. Legislation last year to consolidate the court districts was defeated.

"We'll have to work with the cities and work out something that is compatible," Fitzgerald said.

Supervisor John M. Ward said that he will have some recommendations for a proposed bill which will be drafted by the county manager's office for consideration by the board.

Fitzgerald cited the consolidation as essential for the savings it will effect in construction of new facilities and administrative costs.

Superior Court Administrator J. Paul Peoples recommended that the number of Superior Court judges be increased from 13 to 15.

He said the workload in the court has increased to the extent that the new judgeships are justified.

After the legislation is submitted, the state Judicial Council will study the proposal and recommend to the legislature whether the request should be granted.

Legislation concerning the Pacifica beaches would have the state Department of Parks and Recreation acquire them, with the federal government to pay 50 per cent of the acquisition costs from Federal Land and Water Conservation funds. The county and the state would split the balance of the acquisition costs. If approved, the City of Pacifica would lease the property from the state and would develop, maintain and operate the area.

The proposal for acquistion of the beach area was jointly developed by the state, the county and the city.

The Board of Supervisors directed County Manager M. D. Tarshes to draft a bill to facilitate the formation of assessment districts in the county.

Originally, the legislative proposal was to extend the assessment district payment period from the current 30 days up to a period of 90 days for property owners who want to pay the assessment in one payment, rather than have it placed on their property tax bills. However, property owners have complained that the 30-day period in which to make the payment is too restrictive.

Fitzgerald said he believed that there will be no more assessment districts in the county "under present procedures."

Ex-Judge Bocci Dies

Thomas L. Bocci Jr., 52, well-known South San Francisco former judge and attorney, died Jan. 5 at Stanford Hospital while undergoing open heart surgery.

He had been elected judge of the Northern Judicial District at the age of 26, serving for eight years. He was believed to have been the youngest municipal judge at the time. He served as the first Northern Judicial District judge, holding court at the South San Francisco City Hall.

He retired from the bench in 1959 and returned to private law practice in South San Francisco, as a partner in the firm of Bocci and Modena.

Bocci also was known as an active sportsman. He had gone on three African safaris, an annual elk hunt to Wyoming and fishing trips to Alaska.

He was a member of the South San Francisco Rod and Gun Club, the Green Hills Country Club and the Gum Tree Duck Club. It was a duck club outing, just justy before Christmas, that he suffered a heart attack, which eventually resulted in his death.

He was a member of the state, county and Northern San Mateo County bar associations, and the Trial Lawyers Association.

Other memberships included the Young Men's Institute Council; Knights of Columbus, Marian Council; South San Francisco Druids, South San Francisco Sons of Italy, Friars' Club, and the San Mateo Elks.

As a member of the San Bruno Exchange Club, he took an active part in several Posy Parades.

Bocci was born in Colma, residing there until he and his wife moved to Redwood City. He was a graduate of St. Ignatius High School, University of San Francisco and the USP Law School.

Survivors include his widow, Melania; a daughter, Deborah Ann Beall; three sons, Thomas Loren, James Randolph and Jeffrey Allan Bocci; his mother, Eda Bocci, and two brothers, Richard and Jerrold Bocci.

Ex-Mayor Of DC Dies

Melford D. Battye, a former Daly City mayor and often called the "father of Daly City's Personnel Board," died Jan. 5 in Millbrae. He was 71.

Battye was responsible for drafting many of the rules and regulations of the classified service used today in Daly City.

From 1946 to 1950, Battye was a Daly City councilman. He was mayor of Daly City from 1946 to 1948.

On Battye's retirement in May, 1972 the city council adopted a resolution praising him for his many years of service, both as a councilman and as a member of the city's Personnel Commission.

The resolution commended Battye "for his many years of faithful service to the city . . . but most particularly for his unselfish, impartial and devoted service as a member of the Personnel Board."

He was a native of San Francisco.

Active in civic affairs, Battye served some 15 years on the Personnel Board, eight as chairman. He retired from his insurance business six years ago.

His wife, Mary, "Mrs. Daly City" during the city's 50th Anniversary Celebration in 1961, died two years ago.

A lifelong member of the Lions Club, Battye was also a member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles and the Elks Club.

Survivors include his daughter, Marilyn R. Panella, and three grandchildren.

Funeral was held Friday at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church, followed by interment at Holy Cross Cemetery

fish FOR LENT

FISH GENERAL RULES:

Fish should be cooked quickly at a high temperature, broiled, fried or baked. Unless fish is to be used for soups or casseroles, no water should be added during cooking. When using frozen fish, it is best to cook it while still frozen and allow a longer cooking time. Canned fish or left over cooked fish may be used for casseroles or salads in recipes calling for flaked fish.

SHELL FISH GENERAL RULES:

Scrub shells to remove seaweed and sand. Do not soak in water. If fish is bought shelled carefully remove any pieces of shell or sand. Live lobster and shrimp in the shell may be dropped in boiling water seasoned with salt, Tabasco, bay leaf and other herbs and cooked a few minutes until color changes.

New Entertainment For The Fisherman

There's a whole new entertainment lineup at The Fisherman in Burlingame. Friday marked the opening of the Tri-Sounds led by handsome Tom Lucia. Tom and his dynamite group entertain Tuesdays through Saturdays in the lounge where you can dance nightly as you enjoy a romantic view of San Francisco Bay. On Sundays and Mondays Owner Rich Patane presents Becky and the Open Road. She's the vivacious chick you saw on Hawaii Five-0 and the "Don Ho Special" . . . Not all the steak specialties featured in the elegant Wellington Room of Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco are beef. Phil serves a delectable Veal Steak Armanino that's cooked to order and flamed at the table — very tender and flavorful . . . Nightly entertainment, featuring Valarian at the grand piano, is a Tuesday-through-Saturday attraction in the plush lounge of Adrian Stickney's Shirt Tail in Palo Alto. This master musician, with only one name, is the same gent who entertained at the Fairmont Hotel for a lengthy stint.

OL' BLUE EYES

Frank Sinatra returns to the South Shore Room at Harrah's Tahoe this weekend (Feb. 14, 15, 16, 17). Sinatra has added a special Monday night show for the Washington's Birthday holiday audiences. Also appearing will be comedian Pat Henry.

Martinelli's Steak Pit Stars Dave Dodd

Dave Dodd, who is no stranger to local music fans, opens Friday night in the lounge at Martinelli's Steak Pit, in Millbrae. The versatile organist-pianist will entertain nightly, Wednesdays through Saturdays, for "easy listening" with the old standards and ballads of yesteryear, as well as favorite pop tunes . . . . The 50 cent coupon now being offered at Tanforan Park's Garden Restaurants in San Bruno has caused quite a reaction from the dine-out public. Because of its overwhelming response, General Manager Jack Kuks has extended the coupon's expiration date through March 15 . . . . The Superior Palace restaurant on Balboa Street in San Francisco is a beautiful, new establishment offering Chinese cuisine and cocktails. The menu (serving both lunch and dinner) offers an extensive variety of Chinese dishes, including "special advance order dishes (one day advance notice). Also orders to take out. Among the Deem Sum pastries are Custard Egg Tard and Water Chestnut Cake. A cocktail lounge for before and after dinner cocktails. Open from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. every day, except Wednesday.

Florida Stone Crabs Lehr's Greenhouse

Dynamic restaurateur Murray Lehr has scored another "first" at Lehr's Greenhouse garden restaurant in San Francisco. Murray is now flying in Florida stone crabs fresh from Tampa, Florida, three times a week. They are now being featured at both luncheon and dinner, and, says Murray, Lehr's Greenhouse is the only San Francisco restaurant featuring this delectable seafood treat . . . The glow from a friendly fire in a double fireplace is a warm welcome in the dining room at Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City. You'll find many traveling dignitaries and show people dining here . . . A staff of expert chefs prepare the many Italian creations and seafood specialties at Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant. From appetizers to casserole dishes to desserts, the menu is unusually extensive. Don't hesitate to order the Long Island Oysters on the Half Shell — any month of the year. Luncheon Specials are served Monday through Friday, 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., with the special changed daily . . .

Bring Your Valentine To Alfred's Restaurant

Like to take your favorite Valentine to a plush place where prices are down to terra firma? Try Alfred's restaurant, where the mood is soft and relaxed and the diners are among the sophisticated group . . . A Valentine's party is planned for Thursday night at The Van's in Belmont. Prizes, games and apple bobbing are on the agenda for the evening, which will be hosted by owners Ron Rosenberg and Loring DeMartini. Besides an evening of fun and frolic, free dinners will be offered all the "sweethearts." (Sweethearts being all the girls who show up with their guys) . . . An Italian driving an English sports car? Yep, if you're Joe Ercoli, the sporty co-owner of the Leaning Tower restaurant, who has been tooling around in a fancy Jensen-Healey . . . Claudio Medeiros, famed pianist, and vocalist Russenia Casimir provide lounge music, intimate and romantic, in the Inoui Cocktail Lounge, high atop Hyatt On Union Square each evening, Thursdays through Saturdays. Cocktails from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m., with dancing and music from 9 p.m.

Nevada Tours Books Relaxing Vacation

What better way to plan a relaxing vacation than by letting Nevada Tours take care of all the details. Almost everyone knows that Nevada Tours is a great way to drive to South Lake Tahoe or Reno and save money at the same time. That's right, their Drive-up Packages are money-saving values, and a call to Kay (345-0488) will get you all the information . . . The chef at The Moonraker, overlooking the shores of Pacifica at Rockaway Beach, is particularly expert with sautees. You're sure to appreciate his Veal Scalloppine Marsala and Chicken Cacciatore Milanaise . . . The menu at Captain Charles, which also has one of the most spectacular views from its dining room of the Pacific Ocean, offers a wide variety of fish specialties prepared in a delightful, different continental manner . . . At Nick's restaurant (located across the street), the extensive menu covers the many meal possibilities — from 10 a.m. breakfast to late snacks. The many banquets held here often get under way in the friendly bar-lounge . . . Hindu mystic Joy Capur, owner of Taj Mahal West in San Francisco, not only offers unusual dining, but complimentary readings of patron's faces and tea leaves.

Barney's Intimate Dining and Gaming

Barney's, the "intimate club" in beautiful South Lake Tahoe, was recently remodeled, including the debut of an all-new coffee shop, which is open 24 hours a day. General Manager Harry Bay has received lavish praise since the new dining facility opened. Now, besides the gaming enticements, Barney's patrons have a cheerful, relaxing place to enjoy the best in food and service . . . For those who are searching for good food on the local scene, we suggest you take the overland route to the Coastside to dine at Romano's Italian restaurant, located in the heart of Pacifica. There's every Italian dish you could ask for plus an exceptional Pizza selection (small, medium and extra large). As you would expect, the wine list is extensive. Cocktails, if you prefer . . . Since reopening their Frank Torres Beach restaurant in Montara, following a short vacation, Frank and Fannie Torres have been hosting big crowds of diners who frequently partake of their many Peruvian dishes. Entrees on the Torres Dinner Deluxe include numerous fish specialties, fowl, chops, and steaks.

15th Anniversary Burlingame Hyatt

It's a 15th anniversary celebration for the Burlingame Hyatt House. All this week, Monday through Saturday, Bob Williamson, general manager of the Burlingame complex, and his staff will be presenting "Thank You Days" to all those who have helped to make the Hyatt a rousing success these past 15 years. The festive week-long celebration will include many money-saving bargains — from nickel coffee served all day Monday in the Coffee Shop to a special dinner for two (only $15) on Saturday night, which has been designated as "Anniversary Night." In between, depending on the day, you'll find a low-priced cannelloni dinner, 50 cent martinis and manhattens, 10 cent beer and the Hyatt Ice Cream Riot. Friday, February 14, is "Ladies Day," with a fashion show and Cupid's Delight being offered just for the ladies. Saturday night, besides the special "Anniversary Dinner," a room for two is also only $15. All in all, it's a week of fun, bargains, and celebrating. . . .

An Analysis

County Schools Searching for Funds

By JOHN HORGAN

Public school districts in San Mateo County are gearing up for another attempt to raise funds to finance their operations.

Six districts tried and failed in last November's election. Nine districts are scheduled to go to the public for more money on March 4.

Tentatively, as many as four more are going to seek revenue increases on May 27.

That means that more than half of the county's 23 public school districts will try to acquire new funds this year.

Only one district, the Las Lomitas School District in the South County, has succeeded in getting a revenue measure passed in the last year. It did so last summer.

The county's schools have been brought to this point by a combination of factors. These include: strict state laws regulating school financing, inflation and a serious decline in enrollments.

The last factor may be the most critical. If enrollments remained stable or if they rose at least slightly year by year, the crippling effects of state laws and inflation would be somewhat tempered.

The drastic drop in student numbers — 7,836 students from 1969-70 to 1973-74 — from kindergarten through the 12th grade — has made the county's education crisis just that much more onerous.

And the trend toward lower enrollments is expected to continue.

Nationwide, it has been estimated that within the next 20 years enrollments could drop by as much as 50 per cent, necessitating massive cutbacks in programs, personnel and facilities.

The dilemma of what to do about public schools is an unprecedented one, particularly here in California where the state has limited the amount of money districts can spend per student.

As districts continue to lose students in record quantities, they have found it to be impossible to trim their budgets to keep up with the rate of lost revenues as dictated by the state's formula.

Accustomed to enrollment increases, reliance on local property taxes for funding and a relatively stable economy, officials of the county's school districts are desperately trying to cope with what amounts to a total turnabout in the way the public education game has been played.

Even as enrollments sag markedly, school district budgets have soared to new heights. Over the last six years, budgets for all county districts, with the exception of the community college district, have ballooned by a total of nearly 25 per cent. Presently, the county spends about $210.5 million for educating children from kindergarten through the 12th grade.

Clearly, something will have to give soon.

County-wide, districts have proposed budget cuts for the next several years totalling millions of dollars.

Some districts are strongly considering the necessity for shutting down unneeded schools.

The Sequoia Union High School District, the San Mateo Union High School District, the Ravenswood City School District, the Redwood City School District and the Millbrae School District are all at different stages of preparing to close campuses.

Ravenswood has lost more than 28 per cent of its enrollment in the last six years, and it has been noted that as many as half that district's schools may have to be closed in the near future.

Officials of the Millbrae School District learned this month that, within the period of 1969-70 to 1978-79, the district could lose about 27 per cent of its enrollment. A citizen's committee has begun to examine ways the district could economize. Closing a campus or two is one of many options.

In the San Bruno Park School District in the North County, where enrollments have dropped by more than 21 per cent in the last six years, there is talk of combining two schools and using part of the vacant one for the district's headquarters.

All of these districts, along with some others, are planning to seek new operating funds this year.

On March 4, these districts will go to the public: the Ravenswood City School District, the Redwood City School District, the San Bruno Park School District, the Sequoia Union High School District, the South San Francisco Unified School District, the Portola Valley School District, the La Honda-Pescadero Unified School District, the Woodside School District and the Bayshore School District.

On May 27, the San Mateo City School District and the Burlingame School District will definitely shoot for voter approval of revenue hikes. Two others, the San Mateo Union High School District and the Millbrae School District, are considering that date as well.

In some cases, precise amounts to be sought at election time have not been spelled out.

Last November, if all six revenue increases had been approved, the amount of new money available to the six districts involved would have totalled about $17 million in 1975-76. Those six measures all failed at the polls in resounding fashion.

Regardless of what happens in March and May, it is fully anticipated that programs, staff and facilities will have to be trimmed in these troubled districts.

In addition, it is generally conceded that an infusion of cash will not necessarily bail out local districts in the long run. Success at the polls this time is expected to be nothing more than a stopgap measure. Within a few years, even successful districts will probably find themselves in bad shape once more. Every indication at the state level is that coming laws will be even tougher on the affluent areas of California, particularly where enrollments are dropping as they are here.

The state is committed to equalizing the dollars spent on education on a per-child basis statewide.

Most educators here believe taxpayers in this county soon will be subsidizing public education even more than they are now in other less blessed portions of the state.

Victory in the March and May elections will enable county districts to buy some time.

But enrollments are something that money can't buy.

Attorney Proposes Unified City, County Government

By GEORGE GOLDING

Combining all San Mateo County's cities and the county government into one "Uni-Gov" is the idea of Burlingame attorney Joseph M. Gughemetti.

"A higher quality of service" is possible for San Mateo County residents, he says.

Gughemetti says there are "about 10" other San Mateo County citizens interested in the plan, but he is the only spokesman until the idea gathers some momentum.

"I'm trying to find out if there are 100 or so responsible and professional people in this county who are interested in this idea and willing to dialogue it for the next several months.

Gughemetti said he has also talked the idea over with a number of San Mateo County figures, though none is willing to lend his or her name to the program at this point.

The young attorney admitted that San Francisco's unified government does not provide the "higher quality of service" to its residents that he envisions is possible for San Mateo, but says "it is a more efficient system."

"It could be used in San Mateo while there still is a community worth saving."

In a mid-morning news conference in his Burlingame office, Gughemetti said he had decided to go directly to the people, through the news media, because he does not believe it is "feasible" for incumbent politicians to evaluate themselves.

He said if the attempt was made to carry the idea to the people through the politicians, "the program would be delayed two or three years."

His program would include "a comprehensive study of government service needs through 1980," education, police, fire, health, transportation, and sanitation.

The program would be donducted in three phases. First, public meetings should be held and committees formed to study individual issues; secondly, review of governmental needs and capabilities will be necessary; finally, the concept may be implemented.

Gughemetti said, "Initial funding for Uni-Gov will result from solicitation of voluntary contributions from citizens within the county."

Later, he said, funds could come from government.

With no comment on planning studies or preliminary funding, Indiana officials report that "Uni-Gov" began in Indianapolis Jan. 1, 1970.

The city boundaries were expanded outward to match the Marion County limits, and the older city and county governments were combined into one agency with six departments.

A nine-person City Council and a five-person Board of Supervisors were combined, forming a 29-member City-County Council with four at-large members and 25 members representing specific districts. Most work is handled in committee.

Schools, police, and fire departments were left out of the new government.

Mayor Richard Lugar said schools were left out because "they are a very emotional issue."

Lugar said Uni-Gov gives elected officials the responsibility and authority to reach decisions and get things done quickly.

The combined government is credited with streamlining the city's operation, creating more economy and efficiency.

Lugar says it makes Marion County more competitive in getting new industry.

Grand National Deadline Nears

Entry deadlines for the Grand National Junior Livestock Exposition and Horse Show are several weeks away, but entries for the two events are being received at a near-record rate, according to Lex Connelly, manager of Daly City's Cow Palace.

In an update on preparations for the Junior Grand National, scheduled from March 21 through April 2, Connelly reminded young livestock exhibitors that Feb. 13 is the entry deadline.

Darrel Chapman, the Cow Palace's livestock superintendent, urged youngsters planning to exhibit steers, heifers, cows, lambs, ewes and hogs at the Junior Grand National to forward their entries without delay.

Chapman expressed delight over the number of entries already received from California boys and girls 5 to 18 years of age.

"There is a distinct possibility," he said, "that we may equal or exceed last year's 2,951 entries in the beef, cattle, dairy, sheep and swine classes.

In discussing preparations for the Junior Grand National Horse Show, Connelly said many youthful riders had informed him they were enthusiastically looking forward to the six-day event.

Riders will compete in Western and English classifications from March 27-April 2.

Hoping to avoid a flood of last-minute entries, Connelly said that California boys and girls, aged 6 to 18, who are planning to compete in the horse show should file their entry intentions by March 7.

Requests for entry information or blanks should be sent to the Junior Horse Show or the Junior Livestock Exposition, Cow Palace, P.O. Box 34206, San Francisco, Calif, 94134.

Telephone number of the Cow Palace is (415) 584-2480.

High School Girl Kidnaped, Raped

A 14-year-old Daly City high school student was kidnapped at gunpoint as she walked home from school Thursday afternoon and driven to Coyote Point where she was molested and raped.

She was identified as a student at Serramonte High School in the southwest section of the city.

Her abductor forced the girl into his late model yellow pickup truck and drove to an area near San Francisco International Airport, believed to be at Coyote Point, and sexually assaulted his victim, police said.

The man, identified as white and between 20-25 years old, 5 feet 8 inches, weighing 130-150 pounds and having blonde "frizzy" hair, held his victim for more than an hour, police said.

He returned the girl to Daly City and dropped her off near Gellert Park, police said.

Emergency Radio Channels on 'Hold'

The Board of Supervisors has adopted a plan calling for the reservation of eight UHF radio channels for use by paramedics in the nine Bay Area counties.

The channel reservations were part of a progress report given Feb. 4 on the Emergency Medical Care Plan being developed for the county by the Comprehensive Health Planning Council.

Robert Hubenette, chairman of the Emergency Medical Care Committee which is developing the plan under a $313,000 grant, said approval of the UHF communication plan would entail no financial commitment on the part of the county.

The radio frequencies will be utilized only if a paramedic program is established, he said.

South San Francisco is ready with a pilot paramedic program, Hubenette reported. He said a full paramedic program in the county would consist of 30 units and would cost some $800,000 a year. He added his committee will have a recommendation by the end of June concerning a paramedic program.

Root Pruning Your Fuchsias

By IVA NEWMAN

We have long recommended that people with a certain flower as a hobby should join a society dedicated to growing that flower exceptionally well. There is always someone in such a society who experiments with new ideas and reports the results to the membership. This month Harry Nagel, horticultural editor for the American Fushsia Society Bulleton, reports on the relationship of root-pruning and repotting of Japanese Bonsai and the root-pruning and repotting of fuchsias.

Nagle points out that the entire performance of the bonsai plant is controlled by the regulation of root growth. He goes on to say, "With a fuchsia, or for that matter for any plant, the control or lack thereof of root structure can make or break the performance of the entire plant."

Professional growers have long known that there is a definite relationship between the size of the root structure and the size of a plant. They have learned that a plant cannot develop its proper top structure without a corresponding development of its root structure and vice-versa. The two are closely related in an unpotted, free-growing plant in the garden and are badly maladjusted in a potted plant.

Basically the plant is fed by the fine hair-like feeder roots. The thick, rope-like roots are of little value except to connect the hair roots to the "pipes" within the trunk which pass the food and moisture to the leaves for digestion. In a free-growing plant the hair roots around the base of the plant will reach out seeking nourishment at what is called the drip line. This is the circle of soil directly beneath the outside circumference of the top structure. Even if the only moisture available is fog, this drips from the outside circumference of the head down to the circle of the drip line on the soil. It is in this area that the roots pick up the food most effectively and it is in this circle that fertilizers are most effectively applied.

Top Shades Roots

The top of the plant acts as a shade for the roots in summer. In only a light drizzle or rain, the top acts as an umbrella and concentrates the drip in the circle for most effective watering of the plant. Plants cannot absorb food without moisture.

After the plant has been pruned back each year it must completely rebuild its top structure to replace that natural umbrella over the roots. Until the green structure is completely replaced it is not likely the plant will try to bloom. Nature has a way of protecting itself and the urge to protect the roots of a plant is a very definite characteristic of plant growth.

Nagle reports that "if a fuchsia plant is not pruned annually it will spread all over the place with a large, non-producing head and a large root structure. Then, if the plant is pruned later, the root structure is all out of proportion with what the plant can develop in top structure during its growing season. Obviously, therefore, not only must the top be pruned to develop all new flowering wood for the next season, but the roots must also be cut back to keep the plant in balance."

For a plant in the ground this is easy. After the top has been pruned back just take a spade and push it into the soil in a circle just a little inside of the former diameter of the top and cut off the outer limits of the roots. Do not cut too closely to the trunk as some roots must remain just to keep the plant right-side up in the wind. Later, when you fertilize, spread the fertilizer in the same circle, give or take six-inches outside, to coax the roots outward again. There is very little to be gained by applying fertilizer to any plant close up to the trunk. Keep it out at the drip line.

Roots Can't Spread in Pot

With a potted plant the plant is frustrated. It cannot spread its roots outward to the drip line but it tries by sending the roots out and around in a circle within the confines of the pot until they become all entangled. Immediately after the potted plant is pruned the entire plant is knocked out of the pot and the soil is gently removed from around the roots. The soil should be only damp and not wet and soggy as root damage may result . The long ropes of roots are untangled gently and stretched out so that one may see just where the long ropes extend and where the fine hair roots are close to the trunk. With sharp, clean shears, the long ropes are removed to the point where there is a strong cluster of fine hair roots in the center for future growth. Damaged roots are also cut clean to prevent decay. Properly done there should be just a "head" of fine hair roots and no ropes. The plant is now ready for repotting.

Root pruning and top pruning are both a shock to a plant just as an operation is a shock to the system of a person. For this reason plants should be taken one at a time and the roots and tops pruned and the plant immediately replanted in a fresh soil mixture. Spreading the pruning operation gives the plants two shocks to get over.

Nagle recommends a soil mixture consisting of one-third organic material, such as leaf mold, composted fir or redwood bark or similar organic materials, one-third cow or steer manure and one-third good garden soil or the soil from last year's pots. This should have been prepared last fall and allowed to compost. However, he feels there is still time in the colder sections to mix up a batch, dampen it and let it stand for a few weeks or more before pruning and repotting.

Pots that have been used should be thoroughly scrubbed before re-using. The hole in the bottom of the pot should be covered with a piece of crock to keep the hole open for drainage. We use a square of aluminum screen and cover it with pine needles or a half-inch of ¼-inch gravel. Nagle recommends the pine needles, to hold the soil in the pot up and away from the drainage holl. Once the plant is repotted it should be thoroughly watered. Some growers dunk their plants in a large tub to thoroughly soak the soil and then prop up the bottom to assure complete drainage.

No fertilizer is used until the plant begins to show green growth. Particular care must be taken not to burn the new hair roots. Even when the plant begins to develop green growth take it easy on fertilizer strength until real vigorous growth develops. Then the one-a-week program can be developed with half strength feedings.

Addiego Hits Water District

South San Francisco Director of Public Services Frank J. Addiego charged at Wednesday night's City Council meeting that the Westborough Water District was not acting in the best interest of its taxpayers.

Since September, the district has been negotiating with city officials over the possibility of getting rid of its lift station which sends its sewage uphill to the North San Mateo County

Negotiations started when the district found that a necessary repair job on its main pump, estimated at $310,000, turned out to cost over $500,000 when bids were opened, according to Addiego. The pump already Sanitation District's plant. Instead, a pipeline would be built enabling the sewage to flow downhill, with no pump, to the South San Francisco-San Bruno sewage plant.

was inadequate, since in heavy storms, sewage bypassed it to contribute to South San Francisco's flooding, he said.

Councilmen set up a joint meeting between them and water district directors.

The district set up before annexation is entirely within South San Francisco. The remainder of South San Francisco is supplied by a private water company. The Westborough District supplies water and treats sewage.

The chief point of disagreement is that the district, wanting to limit its share of the pipeline project costs, insists the city pay any sum higher than $975,000, according to Addiego.

An assessment district composed of the holdings of several large developers, including the Callan family and Grubb & Ellis, would be formed.

Councilman Leo Padreddii protested what he said was pressure from South San Francisco to get the district's sewage flow into South San Francisco.

"If they want to pay more to Daly City, they should be allowed to do so," he declared.

"They are still citizens of South San Francisco," said City Manager Ed Alario. "They have no say at the North County Sanitation District, since their relation is only contractural. They (the NCSD) can charge them anything they want. They do have a say at the South San Francisco City Council."

Alario said the lift station would continue to cost more annually because of energy cost increases.

Fire Routs Bruno Family

A 4:30 a.m. fire Thursday drove a San Bruno mother and her son out of their home Thursday and caused a total of an estimated $1,500 damage.

According to San Bruno firemen, the probable cause of the fire at 1684 Kains Ave., was a cigarette, left smoldering in the family room.

ELEGANT ENTERTAINING
in a luxurious 11 room French chateau style home located a few blocks from El Camino. This 4 BR — 4½ Bath home was designed by architect William Wurster for grand entertaining.

The large entry hall opening to the huge cathedral ceilinged LR with its magnificent Venetian glass chandelier also opens to the formal dining room. Both rooms connect with the paneled library. The dining room and library open to the covered patio and pool area, thus providing easy traffic flow for many guests.

Additional features defy simple description, e.g. the huge master BR has 2 dressing rooms connecting to 2 baths. Another BR has built in shelves, drawers, refrig., color TV and could serve as a den. A huge 48-ft. long room w/skylight may be used as artist's studio, game room or 5th BR.

The secluded rear garden surrounds a freeform H&F POOL. Dressing rooms, shower and ½ BA. are nearby. These and many other exciting extras — $210,000.
